Ohio's Mercury Reading Expected To Continue Climb

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures continued to moderate in most areas from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast today but more snow in parts of the storm - stricken Northeast slowed cleanup operations.

Light snow fell on the white-blanketed areas of the central Appalachians, the upper Ohio Valley and western New York.

There was a little relief from the severe cold which has hit most of the eastern half of the country for nearly a week as the core of the arctic air mass moved eastward into the Atlantic. However, temperatures drops were reported in the upper Great Lakes region as skies cleared.

Rescue operations continued in the hardest hit storm sectors, including upstate New York and northern Indiana. Many rural families remained isolated.

* * *

FOOD AND FUEL have been brought to many of the marooned families. In northern Indiana Army helicopters have rescued about 60 persons from snowbound homes.

In Chardon, Ohio, Geauga County Sheriff Louis Robusky has organized a ski patrol to aid marooned rural families blocked by snow drifts up to 18 feet.

Enforced by 21 special deputies, Robusky appealed for volunteers to bring in heavy-duty vehicles, skis and toboggan equipment. The county's snow plows have bogged down in the wind-whipped drifts.

Robusky offered to buy food, fuel and medical supplies, for families isolated by the snowdrifts. He said he received calls at a rate of four an hour Wednesday from families needing aid.

In Cincinnati, the Weather Bureau painted the brightest picture today in five days — both as to temperature and as to conditions on the ice filled Ohio River.

Escal Bennett, chief meteorologist, reported:

"The entire air mass is moderating. The Ohio River should become progressively freer of ice."

The weatherman said indications are that there will be a slow warming trend through Saturday and a moderation continuing afterward.

* * *

"WE WILL still be below normal temperatures for this time of the year (45 high, 28 low) but quite a bit above what we've been having," Bennett said.

The frigid air mass in western Canada which had been expected to hit Ohio is moderating rapidly.

The forecast for today was for mostly fair weather, not so cold Thursday night, high 35. Clear and cold, with a low of 18, was forecast. Friday should be partly cloudy and a little warmer, according to the forecast.

GOP, Dems Appear To Be Reversing Views

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats and Republicans appeared to be retreating in opposite directions today on the question of when a business upturn will occur.

An administration spokesman described as a "mistaken impression" the general interpretation that President Eisenhower, in a statement last week, predicted a business upturn in March.

Meanwhile, congressional Democrats got some private estimates that "real" unemployment may be considerably less than the government's 4½ million figure—perhaps less than half that, with the remainder merely changing jobs or otherwise temporarily out of work. The advice was based on reports from Leon Keyserling, economic adviser to former President Truman.

Some party leaders were cautioning colleagues not to get out on a political limb with too much talk about a slump that might be offset rather quickly by increased government spending.

* * *

DR. GABRIEL Hauge, special White House assistant for economic affairs, told a meeting of State Broadcasting Association presidents that Eisnhower's statement of last Wednesday had been "misread by some people."

At that time, Eisenhower said: "Every indication is that March will commence to see the start of a pickup in job opportunities. That should mark the beginning of the end of the downturn in our economy."

Hauge said the President's language "hardly seems to say that an upturn in the economy will come in March."

Pie-Bakers Vie For National Title

CHICAGO (AP) — A pie adjudged the tastiest in all America will be baked today for President Eisenhower.

The occasion is the 26th National Cherry Pie Baking Contest, a competition that attracted an original field of 195,000 contestants.

Forty - eight state champions, plus champs from Hawaii, Canada and Alaska, whipped up various cherry desert creations Wednesday as a warmup for today's bake-off.

For the second time in the history of the contest, a boy will vie against otherwise all female competition for the title of national cherry pie baking champion. He is Harold Schweiger, 19-year-old cherry pie champ from Montana.

Jet Stream Gets Blame For Cold Snap

WASHINGTON (AP) — "A shift in the jet stream" is the Weather Bureau's explanation of what's causing extreme cold over the eastern two-thirds of the country, while the Far West enjoys a warm spell.

There's no real hope for warm weather for much of that eastern area for the next 30 days.

The jet stream over the United States is also known as the prevailing westerlies — the normally west-to-east wind currents of the upper air at about 10,000 to 40,000 feet. But it seems these winds have become northerlies, blowing north to south over the central part of the country.

About this time of year, cold arctic air builds up over Canada. Normally, this icy air would be pushed out to the Atlantic by the westerlies without too much trouble.

But now, there's a neat ridge on which the cold air can slide right down through the Plains states to Florida and the Gulf, bringing the freezing temperatures.

While the arctic air has been sliding down the north - south air ridge, west of the Rockies warm air is being forced up from the south and southwest to fill in a trough there.

Usually this jet stream shift occurs a few times every winter. But it has been worse this year and of longer duration.

Seaman Is Sought From Sunken Ship

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Coast Guard cutter Chilula continued its search about 120 miles off the North Carolina coast today for the remaining missing seaman from the sunken freighter Bonitas.

Five of the Italian crewmen were plucked from the raging Atlantic Ocean alive. The bodies of 21 others were recovered by search ships Wednesday.

The last two survivors were picked up Wednesday afternoon by the destroyer escort Lester, which proceeded for Norfolk.

Electric Firms In 7 States Face Trouble

Strike at Kyger Creek Could Affect Area Chances Said Remote

GALLIPOLIS (AP)—A strike has been approved in a vote by workers at Ohio Valley Electric Corp's (OVEC) nearby Kyger Creek power plant.

The strike could tie up electric companies in seven states, but company and some union officials are doubtful that it will.

At the Ohio River plant Wednesday, 149 of 193 Utility Workers Union of America members voted in favor of the walkout.

UNUA spokesmen said picket lines would be established and respected at installations and generating plants of the OVEC's 15 sponsoring companies.

But in Cincinnati, H. B. Blankenship, international vice president for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said his union would not respect picket lines.

The UWUA and the IBEW are the two unions representing about 15,000 workers in OVEC plants in Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia.

Blankenship said:

* * *

"IF THE STRIKE threatened by the Utility Workers Union of America materializes, members of our locals will honor our contracts in the five-state area over which I have jurisdiction. I have instructed all of our men to pass any picket lines the utility workers set up."

James G. Cox, administrative assistant to OVEC, said he did not think electrical service would be interrupted. He said:

"Our sponsoring companies, in the event their plants are picketed, have assured us they will continue service to their respective customers with supervisory personnel, just as we are prepared to operate at our plant (Kyger Creek)".

Harold J. Straub, UWUA vice president, said the supervisory personnel would get a chance to operate the plants today because

9 Boys Get Boost at Civic Dinner

SEATTLE (AP) — Several hundred Seattleites invested 75 cents or more Wednesday night in a good meal and the future of nine young Negro boys.

The meal was served by the boys, cooked by their mothers, sisters and friends and spawned in the burglary of a local grocery store last November.

The boys all were among some 30 participants in a raid on the store; they were identified and turned over to Juvenile Court. Judge William G. Long sentenced them to the State Training School for Boys, then suspended the sentence for 30 days in which they could prove they wanted to be good citizens.

Being good citizens meant paying the grocer $100 to cover the cost of goods lost, damaged or consumed in the raid. The boys, all members of a group called the King Cobras, investigated their lean club treasury and decided on a money-raising dinner.

Tickets were sold for 75 cents and a dollar (for a plain or deluxe ham or fish dinner). Many persons who couldn't come just sent a donation — some as big as $10.

About 250 persons came for the dinner. There were no free tickets. The boys made much more than they needed, although the exact amount was not known.

France Sending More Troops into Algeria

PARIS (AP) — France is sending 50,000 more troops to Algeria to fight the rebellion the French government periodically announces is on the wane.

The French Cabinet Wednesday approved the reinforcements for the 480,000 army, navy and air force men already in the North African territory.

The new troops will go to eastern Algeria, the weakest French position because of rebel infiltration across the Tunisian border.

Soviet, Red China Merging Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union and Red China apparently are working on a concerted plan to put maximum pressure on the Western powers to hold a summit conference on Communist terms.

U. S. officials found evidence of this today in the timing of two widely separated but remarkably similar actions within the last two days:

1. Communist China's announced decision to withdraw troops from North Korea this year.

2. An announcement by the Soviet commander in East Germany of plans to reduce the Soviet forces there by 41,000 men.

In the United States view the Soviet and Red Chinese can take these actions at little cost to themselves—indeed they may be necessary for reasons unrelated to a summit conference — yet make a show of relaxing tensions.

THE SAME thing happened before the 1955 summit conference, when the Soviet Union suddenly agreed to unification of Austria after years of stalling.

By such means, as well as by the letters which Soviet Premier Bulganin has been writing to President Eisenhower, the Reds can hope to build up worldwide pressure for summit talks.

They apparently hope that once the talks are started the demands for East-West agreement will be so great that the Western powers will be forced to make concessions to Soviet interests.

Among other things, Bulganin has indicated the Soviet Union would like to neutralize Germany.

The Soviets have also made clear they want to break down Western restraints on trade which would benefit their own industrial buildup, and to get some kind of non-aggression pact which might have the long-range effect of weakening the Western resolve to maintain costly defense systems.

U. S. officials are extremely skeptical about the chances of getting any real changes in Soviet or Red Chinese policy on issues proposed by President Eisenhower. These include initial steps to limit armaments, control outer space for peaceful purposes and hike authority of the United Nations.

Sir Winston Spends Night 'Comfortably'

ROQUEBRUNE, France (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill, battling pneumonia and pleurisy at the age of 83, was reported today to have spent a "fairly comfortable night."

So far, the former British prime minister, a warrior in military and political campaigns since the turn of the century, seemed to have the upper hand in his new bout with illness.

The diagnosis of pneumonia at th base of the lung and pleurisy was given by Lord Moran, Churchills personal physician who flew down from London, and Dr. David M. Roberts, his doctor here.

Churchill came to the Riviera Jan. 15 for his annual winter visit. Monday he visited the yacht of Greek millionaire Aristotle Onassis. Browne said Sir Winston apparently suffered a chill during the visit. He was put to bed Tuesday and Moran was summoned.

Dr. Roberts said before Lord Moran arrived that Churchill was suffering from a chronic bronchial condition, "but there is no question of his dying."

Sudan Dispute Going to U.N.

Talks with Egypt About Border Stall

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Egypt's dispute with Sudan over two border areas was headed for the U.N. Security Council today after top-level talks in Cairo broke down.

Egypt claims all territory north of the 22nd Parallel and would yield a small area south of the line.

One portion of the disputed territory sought by Nasser is a 6,000-square-mile desert triangle along the Red Sea. It has been run by Sudan to unify administration over the 10,000 wandering tribesmen in the area who move back and forth across the parallel.

The other is a finger extending north from the parallel along the Nile Valley for about 25 miles.

The Egyptians claim that the people in the disputed areas have a right to vote in Friday's plebiscite to approve the new United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria and to elect Nasser as its president.

Sudan holds parliamentary elections a week later. For either nation to permit the territories to vote in the other's election might effect its claim to them.

The dispute broke into the open Monday when troops were reported moving into the areas from both sides. Sudan and Egypt denied the troop movements, although Egypt admitted sending in policemen to protect polling places.

'Backstage' Moves In FCC Chided by House Prober

WASHINGTON (AP)— A House investigating committee returned to the disputed Miami TV case today with one member expressing concern over what he called the "backstage" manner that apparently applied to the FCC.

Rep. Wolverton (R-NJ), senior Republican on the committee, said a person wouldn't have thought of appearing in a federal court in the "backstage, surreptitious manner" that apparently applies to the FCC.

* * *

WOLVERTON SAID he thought something must be done so that a quasi-judicial commission would be free from the implication that it could be approached along political lines.

A. Frank Katzentine, a loser in the Miami case, was in the witness chair for the second day in the committee's inquiry into alleged pressures in the case.

Wolverton asked why there couldn't be the same attitude toward the regulatory commissions as there is toward the courts.

Wolverton commented that the Interstate Commerce Commission had adopted a code of ethics.

Katzentine, a stocky Miami Beach radio station owner, was a loser in the four-way contest for the Channel 10 license.

Chairman Harris (D-Ark) said his subcommittee hopes today to question Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack.

Mack is a Miami Democrat appointed by President Eisenhower to the commission in July 1955. Mack voted with the majority when the FCC decided 4-2 last year to give Channel 10 to Public Service Television, Inc., a subsidiary of National Airlines. An FCC examiner had recommended that Frank Katzen[illegible] it.

* * *

MACK HAS TERMED "distortions" charges that he accepted money in the case and that he was pledged in advance to vote for Public Service.

Katzentine told of two visits to Mack in Washington before the final FCC decision. But he said he never asked Mack to vote for him.

All he wanted, he said, was a vote on the merits of the application. He said he never tried to influence anybody to vote for him.

Darby, Ashville To Clash For Pickaway Tourney Title

Darby and Ashville will clash for the 1958 Pickaway County cage tournament championship tomorrow night at the Fairgrounds Coliseum. Both teams earned berths by winning semifinal contests last night.

Darby entered the magic circle by stopping Scioto in a thrilling 75-72 overtime battle. Ashville followed suit by downing the Bulldogs of New Holland, 63-43.

Scioto and New Holland will lock horns starting at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow for consolation honors. The Darby-Ashville whistle is set for 9 p. m

Both games last night were witnessed by a full house — an estimated ,500 fans. Partisan fans braving the cold were not disappointed with what they saw, especially in the close Darby-Scioto match.

Darby, winning the Pickaway County League with 10 victories and no defeats, automatically landed a spot in the district tournament.

* * *

ASHVILLE IS assured of a place in the tourney but the third Pickaway County representative will be determined by the Scioto-New Holland contest winner.

The District Class A tourney will be held at Capital University, Columbus, this year. Coaches and superintendents from the three schools representing Pickaway County and local tournament manager John Hardin, Ashville, will travel to Capital Sunday for the district drawing. The meet is set for 1 p. m. in Mees Hall.

War Labeled Everybody's Business Now

CHICAGO (AP)—War, hot or cold, is everybody's business.

That's one of the thoughts that becomes dominant after listening to men from the armed forces, business, education, science and government.

Some of the suggestions heard:

We have to formulate our national strategy now. We can't, as we did in past wars, wait until the shooting starts.

This time it has to be an overall strategy — political, military, economic and social.

We should have a systematic study of strategy to relate foreign and domestic policies, civil and military viewpoints, private and governmental interests.

Industry and business should take a hand now in shaping strategy. The enemy has to be met on the economic front, as well as in the military sphere.

Money handed out by the government serves a purpose. But private capital should be invested to help build industry and job skills in the underdeveloped countries. Then the have-not peoples will have something going for them, and they will be less inclined to listen to the Reds.

Education has a basic role. The quality of teaching should be improved. Performance standards for students should be raised. That means, among other things, more homework.

Here's Rare Way To Baby a Cold

He found a half-filled bottle of pills with his daughter's name on the label, and remembered she's recently been taking medicine for a respiratory ailment. He began taking the pills.

The very next day he was feeling fine.

"Those pills did it," he told his daughter, Mrs. Bobbie Nelowet.

"Good," she said, eyeing the bottle, "but they're not what you think they are. I've been keeping my pre-natal pills in there."

Secondary roads are slippery in spots north of a line through Van Wert, Lima, Kenton, Upper Sandusky, Bucyrus, Mansfield, Millersburg, New Philadelphia and St. Clairsville.

Highways also are slippery in spots in the vicinity of Coshocton, Zanesville, and Cambridge, and south and east of a line through Woodsfield, Caldwell, McConnellsville, Logan, McArthur and Gallipolis.

53 Killed as Ship Blows Up in Port

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP)—A British freighter that put into this Persian Gulf oil port on fire and with 150 tons of explosives aboard exploded at her anchorage Wednesday night.

The ship's agent said 53 persons were killed and 19 were injured.

The 7,440-ton Seistan, one of the most modern ships in the British merchant fleet, entered the Persian Gulf three days ago, en route from Liverpool with the explosives and other supplies for the Iraqi oil fields.

Senate Panel Boosts Limit By $5 Billion

House Finance Group Approves Additional Funds To Run Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate finance committee approved today the full $5 billion boost in the debt ceiling asked by President Eisenhower effective until June 30, 1959.

It did so after rejecting, by a vote of 10-5, a proposal by Chairman Byrd (D-Va) to limit the increase to $3 billion.

The committee acted on a bill passed by the House a month ago, 38-71, to raise the amount of the debt the government can have outstanding.

The increase is from 275 to 280 billion dollars.

Byrd said "I am confident the Senate Finance Committee approved the increase in the debt limit only because of its belief that the administration had overestimated the income for the next year and underestimated the spending."

* * *

ON ANOTHER financial front, the House Appropriations Committee today approved $2,837,882,907 in additional money to run the government for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30, but said the main effect is to make next year's Eisenhower budget look better.

A committee majority said 78 per cent of the added money represents requests which normally would have come to Congress next year.

It declared the result is a favorable-looking, but misleading reduction in 1959 budget totals as compared with 1958.

"Had the President handled these items in the normal manner in the 1959 budget, the result would reflect a recommended increase in new obligating authority in 1959, not a decrease," the committee said.

The biggest part of the supplemental appropriations for this year is $2,235,131,868 to reimburse the Commodity Credit Corporation for agriculture and farm price support programs costs.

The committee said the CCC funds would normally be handled as part of the 1959 budget for the Agriculture Department, adding:

* * *

"THEY ARE included in this supplemental bill to avoid any possible need to increase the borrowing authority of the corporation above the present 14½ billion dollars to provide a safe operating margin later in the current fiscal year."

The committee also:

1. Accused the Agriculture Department of failing to use its "ample authority" to give all farmers an opportunity to participate in the farm soil bank, for which Congress appropriated ½ billion dollars last year.

2. Questioned the performance of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics (NACA) in missile research, saying: "The committee is fearful NACA is again (as alleged in World War II) deficient in basic research in the field of missiles."

The committee cut 1½ million dollars from requests for added funds for salaries and expenses of the NACA staff. It approved 9½ million dollars instead of $11,780,000 asked for all expenses.

3 Near Middletown Die in Home Fire

MIDDLETOWN (AP) — Three persons burned to death today when fire swept their two-story frame home near Monroe.

McDaniels said the three apparently were trapped on the second floor. Another son, Bobby, 12, escaped uninjured. His parents had told him to run up the road to a neighbor's home and to call the fire department.

214 Miners Said Dead

CALCUTTA, India (AP)—At least 214 miners were believed dead today after an explosion in India's most modern coal mine about 200 miles northwest of Calcutta.

James G. Cox, administrative assistant to OVEC, said he did not think electrical service would be interrupted. He said:

"Our sponsoring companies, in the event their plants are picketed, have assured us they will continue service to their respective customers with supervisory personnel, just as we are prepared to operate at our plant (Kyger Creek)".

Harold J. Straub, UWUA vice president, said the supervisory personnel would get a chance to operate the plants today because

9 Boys Get Boost at Civic Dinner

SEATTLE (AP) — Several hundred Seattleites invested 75 cents or more Wednesday night in a good meal and the future of nine young Negro boys.

The meal was served by the boys, cooked by their mothers, sisters and friends and spawned in the burglary of a local grocery store last November.

The boys all were among some 30 participants in a raid on the store; they were identified and turned over to Juvenile Court. Judge William G. Long sentenced them to the State Training School for Boys, then suspended the sentence for 30 days in which they could prove they wanted to be good citizens.

Being good citizens meant paying the grocer $100 to cover the cost of goods lost, damaged or consumed in the raid. The boys, all members of a group called the King Cobras, investigated their lean club treasury and decided on a money-raising dinner.

Tickets were sold for 75 cents and a dollar (for a plain or deluxe ham or fish dinner). Many persons who couldn't come just sent a donation — some as big as $10.

About 250 persons came for the dinner. There were no free tickets. The boys made much more than they needed, although the exact amount was not known.

France Sending More Troops into Algeria

PARIS (AP) — France is sending 50,000 more troops to Algeria to fight the rebellion the French government periodically announces is on the wane.

The French Cabinet Wednesday approved the reinforcements for the 480,000 army, navy and air force men already in the North African territory.

The new troops will go to eastern Algeria, the weakest French position because of rebel infiltration across the Tunisian border.

Soviet, Red China Merging Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union and Red China apparently are working on a concerted plan to put maximum pressure on the Western powers to hold a summit conference on Communist terms.

U. S. officials found evidence of this today in the timing of two widely separated but remarkably similar actions within the last two days:

1. Communist China's announced decision to withdraw troops from North Korea this year.

2. An announcement by the Soviet commander in East Germany of plans to reduce the Soviet forces there by 41,000 men.

In the United States view the Soviet and Red Chinese can take these actions at little cost to themselves—indeed they may be necessary for reasons unrelated to a summit conference — yet make a show of relaxing tensions.

THE SAME thing happened before the 1955 summit conference, when the Soviet Union suddenly agreed to unification of Austria after years of stalling.

By such means, as well as by the letters which Soviet Premier Bulganin has been writing to President Eisenhower, the Reds can hope to build up worldwide pressure for summit talks.

They apparently hope that once the talks are started the demands for East-West agreement will be so great that the Western powers will be forced to make concessions to Soviet interests.

Among other things, Bulganin has indicated the Soviet Union would like to neutralize Germany.

The Soviets have also made clear they want to break down Western restraints on trade which would benefit their own industrial buildup, and to get some kind of non-aggression pact which might have the long-range effect of weakening the Western resolve to maintain costly defense systems.

U. S. officials are extremely skeptical about the chances of getting any real changes in Soviet or Red Chinese policy on issues proposed by President Eisenhower. These include initial steps to limit armaments, control outer space for peaceful purposes and hike authority of the United Nations.

Sir Winston Spends Night 'Comfortably'

ROQUEBRUNE, France (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill, battling pneumonia and pleurisy at the age of 83, was reported today to have spent a "fairly comfortable night."

So far, the former British prime minister, a warrior in military and political campaigns since the turn of the century, seemed to have the upper hand in his new bout with illness.

The diagnosis of pneumonia at th base of the lung and pleurisy was given by Lord Moran, Churchills personal physician who flew down from London, and Dr. David M. Roberts, his doctor here.

Churchill came to the Riviera Jan. 15 for his annual winter visit. Monday he visited the yacht of Greek millionaire Aristotle Onassis. Browne said Sir Winston apparently suffered a chill during the visit. He was put to bed Tuesday and Moran was summoned.

Dr. Roberts said before Lord Moran arrived that Churchill was suffering from a chronic bronchial condition, "but there is no question of his dying.'

Sudan Dispute Going to U.N.

Talks with Egypt About Border Stall

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Egypt's dispute with Sudan over two border areas was headed for the U.N. Security Council today after top-level talks in Cairo broke down.

Egypt claims all territory north of the 22nd Parallel and would yield a small area south of the line.

One portion of the disputed territory sought by Nasser is a 6,000-square-mile desert triangle along the Red Sea. It has been run by Sudan to unify administration over the 10,000 wandering tribesmen in the area who move back and forth across the parallel.

The other is a finger extending north from the parallel along the Nile Valley for about 25 miles.

The Egyptians claim that the people in the disputed areas have a right to vote in Friday's plebiscite to approve the new United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria and to elect Nasser as its president.

Sudan holds parliamentary elections a week later. For either nation to permit the territories to vote in the other's election might effect its claim to them.

The dispute broke into the open Monday when troops were reported moving into the areas from both sides. Sudan and Egypt denied the troop movements, although Egypt admitted sending in policemen to protect polling places.

'Backstage' Moves In FCC Chided by House Prober

WASHINGTON (AP)— A House investigating committee returned to the disputed Miami TV case today with one member expressing concern over what he called the "backstage" manner that apparently applied to the FCC.

Rep. Wolverton (R-NJ), senior Republican on the committee, said a person wouldn't have thought of appearing in a federal court in the "backstage, surreptitious manner" that apparently applies to the FCC.

* * *

WOLVERTON SAID he thought something must be done so that a quasi-judicial commission would be free from the implication that it could be approached along political lines.

A. Frank Katzentine, a loser in the Miami case, was in the witness chair for the second day in the committee's inquiry into alleged pressures in the case.

Wolverton asked why there couldn't be the same attitude toward the regulatory commissions as there is toward the courts.

Wolverton commented that the Interstate Commerce Commission had adopted a code of ethics.

Mack is a Miami Democrat appointed by President Eisenhower to the commission in July 1955. Mack voted with the majority when the FCC decided 4-2 last year to give Channel 10 to Public Service Television, Inc., a subsidiary of National Airlines. An FCC examiner had recommended that Frank Katzen[illegible] it.

* * *

MACK HAS TERMED "distortions" charges that he accepted money in the case and that he was pledged in advance to vote for Public Service.

Katzentine told of two visits to Mack in Washington before the final FCC decision. But he said he never asked Mack to vote for him.

All he wanted, he said, was a vote on the merits of the application. He said he never tried to influence anybody to vote for him.

Darby, Ashville To Clash For Pickaway Tourney Title

Darby and Ashville will clash for the 1958 Pickaway County cage tournament championship tomorrow night at the Fairgrounds Coliseum. Both teams earned berths by winning semifinal contests last night.

Darby entered the magic circle by stopping Scioto in a thrilling 75-72 overtime battle. Ashville followed suit by downing the Bulldogs of New Holland, 63-43.

Scioto and New Holland will lock horns starting at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow for consolation honors. The Darby-Ashville whistle is set for 9 p. m

Both games last night were witnessed by a full house — an estimated ,500 fans. Partisan fans braving the cold were not disappointed with what they saw, especially in the close Darby-Scioto match.

Darby, winning the Pickaway County League with 10 victories and no defeats, automatically landed a spot in the district tournament.

* * *

ASHVILLE IS assured of a place in the tourney but the third Pickaway County representative will be determined by the Scioto-New Holland contest winner.

The District Class A tourney will be held at Capital University, Columbus, this year. Coaches and superintendents from the three schools representing Pickaway County and local tournament manager John Hardin, Ashville, will travel to Capital Sunday for the district drawing. The meet is set for 1 p. m. in Mees Hall.

War Labeled Everybody's Business Now

CHICAGO (AP)—War, hot or cold, is everybody's business.

That's one of the thoughts that becomes dominant after listening to men from the armed forces, business, education, science and government.

Some of the suggestions heard:

We have to formulate our national strategy now. We can't, as we did in past wars, wait until the shooting starts.

This time it has to be an overall strategy — political, military, economic and social.

We should have a systematic study of strategy to relate foreign and domestic policies, civil and military viewpoints, private and governmental interests.

Industry and business should take a hand now in shaping strategy. The enemy has to be met on the economic front, as well as in the military sphere.

Money handed out by the government serves a purpose. But private capital should be invested to help build industry and job skills in the underdeveloped countries. Then the have-not peoples will have something going for them, and they will be less inclined to listen to the Reds.

Education has a basic role. The quality of teaching should be improved. Performance standards for students should be raised. That means, among other things, more homework.

Here's Rare Way To Baby a Cold

He found a half-filled bottle of pills with his daughter's name on the label, and remembered she's recently been taking medicine for a respiratory ailment. He began taking the pills.

The very next day he was feeling fine.

"Those pills did it," he told his daughter, Mrs. Bobbie Nelowet.

"Good," she said, eyeing the bottle, "but they're not what you think they are. I've been keeping my pre-natal pills in there."

53 Killed as Ship Blows Up in Port

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP)—A British freighter that put into this Persian Gulf oil port on fire and with 150 tons of explosives aboard exploded at her anchorage Wednesday night.

The ship's agent said 53 persons were killed and 19 were injured.

The 7,440-ton Seistan, one of the most modern ships in the British merchant fleet, entered the Persian Gulf three days ago, en route from Liverpool with the explosives and other supplies for the Iraqi oil fields.

Senate Panel Boosts Limit By $5 Billion

House Finance Group Approves Additional Funds To Run Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate finance committee approved today the full $5 billion boost in the debt ceiling asked by President Eisenhower effective until June 30, 1959.

It did so after rejecting, by a vote of 10-5, a proposal by Chairman Byrd (D-Va) to limit the increase to $3 billion.

The committee acted on a bill passed by the House a month ago, 38-71, to raise the amount of the debt the government can have outstanding.

Byrd said "I am confident the Senate Finance Committee approved the increase in the debt limit only because of its belief that the administration had overestimated the income for the next year and underestimated the spending."

* * *

ON ANOTHER financial front, the House Appropriations Committee today approved $2,837,882,907 in additional money to run the government for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30, but said the main effect is to make next year's Eisenhower budget look better.

A committee majority said 78 per cent of the added money represents requests which normally would have come to Congress next year.

It declared the result is a favorable-looking, but misleading reduction in 1959 budget totals as compared with 1958.

"Had the President handled these items in the normal manner in the 1959 budget, the result would reflect a recommended increase in new obligating authority in 1959, not a decrease," the committee said.

The biggest part of the supplemental appropriations for this year is $2,235,131,868 to reimburse the Commodity Credit Corporation for agriculture and farm price support programs costs.

The committee said the CCC funds would normally be handled as part of the 1959 budget for the Agriculture Department, adding:

* * *

"THEY ARE included in this supplemental bill to avoid any possible need to increase the borrowing authority of the corporation above the present 14½ billion dollars to provide a safe operating margin later in the current fiscal year."

The committee also:

1. Accused the Agriculture Department of failing to use its "ample authority" to give all farmers an opportunity to participate in the farm soil bank, for which Congress appropriated ½ billion dollars last year.

2. Questioned the performance of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics (NACA) in missile research, saying: "The committee is fearful NACA is again (as alleged in World War II) deficient in basic research in the field of missiles."

The committee cut 1½ million dollars from requests for added funds for salaries and expenses of the NACA staff. It approved 9½ million dollars instead of $11,780,000 asked for all expenses.

3 Near Middletown Die in Home Fire

MIDDLETOWN (AP) — Three persons burned to death today when fire swept their two-story frame home near Monroe.

McDaniels said the three apparently were trapped on the second floor. Another son, Bobby, 12, escaped uninjured. His parents had told him to run up the road to a neighbor's home and to call the fire department.

CALCUTTA, India (AP)—At least 214 miners were believed dead today after an explosion in India's most modern coal mine about 200 miles northwest of Calcutta.

Mysterious Gas Fumes Traced To Rodent Hole

It seems impossible that a house could have a gas leak when no gas is piped into the residence, but this strange development happened in Circleville yesterday.

The odd situation occurred at the Herman Hardesty residence on Lancaster Pike. Members of the family smelled gas fumes for several days but couldn't determine the reason since no gas lines ran to the house.

Perturbed to no end by the ever stronger aroma of fumes, the Hardesty family decided to call the fire department and local Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Chief Talmer Wise and gas company employe Frank Marion arrived at the scene and even they were puzzled by the unusual presence of fumes.

* * *

AFTER testing all parts of the house and finding no gas source, Marion decided to play a hunch by placing his gas detector apparatus near a rat hole. Low and behold the needle flipped over like a shot, much to the amazement of both Marion and Wise.

They immediately evacuated the family from the house and investigated further. Their deduction was that the rat hole apparently ran to an 8-inch gas main which is located under Lancaster Pike.

Their conclusion apparently was right for a digging crew arrived at the scene and later determined that a leak existed in the main near the Hardesty house.

The fumes therefore entered the rat hole and pushed on forward to the basement of the house. Wise said if any rats lived in the tunnel prior to this escapade they probably have moved to greener pastures by now.

The gas company crew was busy today repairing the line leak and the Hardesty family undoubtedly is resting more at ease.

Electric Firms

the union has invited all of the 193 workers at the plant to a meeting here at 4 p. m.

"The company thinks its supervisory personnel can run it (the plant), so we'll give them the chance," Straub reported.

He hastily added that the meeting is not the beginning of the strike.

As to when the walkout will start, Straub commented:

"It has been given considerable thought, but the date's not for public consumption."

The strike announcement came a few hours after contract talks had been recessed indefinitely.

* * *

OVEC AND the UWUA have been battling over wages and union security clauses to be written into the initial contract covering the Kyger Creek plant.

Last October the UWUA was certified as the bargaining agent for the plant, which supplies power for the Atomic Energy Commission's uranium defusion plant in Pike County.

Federal mediator George Bell, after the 13th meeting Wednesday said: "There wasn't much point in continuing. They weren't getting anywhere."

Both parties, however, declared they are willing to return to the bargaining table whenever anything new can be presented.

Bell reported the union has demanded some immediate increase with the possibility of additional adjustments later. The company has contended it could not write an increase into a contract until September in view of a 5¾ per cent increase granted five months ago.

The union also is seeking a modified union shop, Bell said. Cox said OVEC does not agree that a worker must join a union or remain a member of a union to hold a job.

Stock Rally Today Proves Short-Lived

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a short-lived rally today on bullish news then sputtered into irregularity early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

Plus and minus signs ranging from fractions to about a point were scattered through the list of key stocks.

The Federal Reserve Board's antirecession action late Wednesday in lowering the reserve requirements of member banks was a bolstering factor.

Tobaccos snapped back from their retreat Wednesday. An assortment of gains remained among steels, base metals, chemicals and radio television. Motors showed scant change. Oils, rails and aircrafts displayed a downside drift.

Philip Morris gained about a point and other tobacco stocks were fractionally higher.

Fractional losses were taken by U. S. rubber, International Harvester, Caterpillar, Anaconda, General Electric and Standard Oil (New Jersey). Youngstown Sheet, Chance Vought and Du Pont were ahead around a point each.

U. S. government bonds edged to the upside.

SKIPORT — Quebec's Mont Tremblant, highest of the Laurentian mountains north of Montreal, soon will provide shirt-sleeve skiing and suntanning in the balmy March sun. Chair lifts on the north and south slopes transport skiers and sightseers to the network of ski trails on the upper slopes, where good ski sport is available until Easter, sometimes later. At the base of the mountain is a story-book village of tiny chalets, lodges, a steepled chapel and gaily-colored shops, a favorite of American visitors.

Widow Can't Get Treatment

It's Too Late For GI Insurance

Veterans who have a question of interest to ex-servicemen should pass it along to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer Jim Shea. His offices are in the basement of the Courthouse in Circleville)

Q—I am the widow of a WWI veteran who at the time of his death was receiving a total nonservice-connected pension. I am in the need of constant medical attention. Can I get this from the Veterans Administration.

A—I am sorry, but you cannot. There is no law by which medical attention is provided at VA expense for any dependent of a deceased veteran. Even if your husband were in receipt of a service-connected compensation at the time of his death, the VA could not provide medical treatment for you.

Q—When I was discharged in 1946, I dropped my GI Insurance. Can I pick it up, and reinstate it now?

A—No.

Q—Is a veteran with an undesirable discharge entitled to unemployment benefits?

A—According to the law, a veteran is entitled to unemployment compensation provided he was discharged under other than dishonorable conditions. While an undesirable discharge is pushing it pretty close, it is not dishonorable, and you should be entitled to this benefit.

Q — IF A SERVICE-connected disability causes another disability, is the aggravated condition the responsibility of the Veterans Administration?

A—Yes. If a service-connected disability causes another disability, the aggravated condition is also considered service-connected, and the VA will allow out-patient treatment for the aggravated condition, and could very easily increase your compensation because of it.

Q—What is the latest on payments of the Korean State Bonus?

A—The magic number at present is 166,000. Any veteran with a Korean bonus claim number lower than 166,000 who has not heard anything from the Korean Bonus Commission regarding his claim should contact this office in order that correspondence may be sent regarding the claim.

Q—Is it still possible for a World War II veteran to get a GI Loan?

A—It is still possible for a World War II veteran to get a GI Loan, provided he can find a lending agency that will lend to him. The deadline date for GI Loans for World War II veterans is July 25, 1958.

Mysterious Gas Fumes Traced To Rodent Hole

It seems impossible that a house could have a gas leak when no gas is piped into the residence, but this strange development happened in Circleville yesterday.

The odd situation occurred at the Herman Hardesty residence on Lancaster Pike. Members of the family smelled gas fumes for several days but couldn't determine the reason since no gas lines ran to the house.

Perturbed to no end by the ever stronger aroma of fumes, the Hardesty family decided to call the fire department and local Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Chief Talmer Wise and gas company employe Frank Marion arrived at the scene and even they were puzzled by the unusual presence of fumes.

* * *

AFTER testing all parts of the house and finding no gas source, Marion decided to play a hunch by placing his gas detector apparatus near a rat hole. Low and behold the needle flipped over like a shot, much to the amazement of both Marion and Wise.

They immediately evacuated the family from the house and investigated further. Their deduction was that the rat hole apparently ran to an 8-inch gas main which is located under Lancaster Pike.

Their conclusion apparently was right for a digging crew arrived at the scene and later determined that a leak existed in the main near the Hardesty house.

The fumes therefore entered the rat hole and pushed on forward to the basement of the house. Wise said if any rats lived in the tunnel prior to this escapade they probably have moved to greener pastures by now.

The gas company crew was busy today repairing the line leak and the Hardesty family undoubtedly is resting more at ease.

Electric Firms

the union has invited all of the 193 workers at the plant to a meeting here at 4 p. m.

"The company thinks its supervisory personnel can run it (the plant), so we'll give them the chance," Straub reported.

He hastily added that the meeting is not the beginning of the strike.

As to when the walkout will start, Straub commented:

"It has been given considerable thought, but the date's not for public consumption."

The strike announcement came a few hours after contract talks had been recessed indefinitely.

OVEC AND the UWUA have been battling over wages and union security clauses to be written into the initial contract covering the Kyger Creek plant.

Last October the UWUA was certified as the bargaining agent for the plant, which supplies power for the Atomic Energy Commission's uranium defusion plant in Pike County.

Federal mediator George Bell, after the 13th meeting Wednesday said: "There wasn't much point in continuing. They weren't getting anywhere."

Both parties, however, declared they are willing to return to the bargaining table whenever anything new can be presented.

Bell reported the union has demanded some immediate increase with the possibility of additional adjustments later. The company has contended it could not write an increase into a contract until September in view of a 5¾ per cent increase granted five months ago.

The union also is seeking a modified union shop, Bell said. Cox said OVEC does not agree that a worker must join a union or remain a member of a union to hold a job.

Stock Rally Today Proves Short-Lived

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a short-lived rally today on bullish news then sputtered into irregularity early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

Plus and minus signs ranging from fractions to about a point were scattered through the list of key stocks.

The Federal Reserve Board's antirecession action late Wednesday in lowering the reserve requirements of member banks was a bolstering factor.

Tobaccos snapped back from their retreat Wednesday. An assortment of gains remained among steels, base metals, chemicals and radio television. Motors showed scant change. Oils, rails and aircrafts displayed a downside drift.

Philip Morris gained about a point and other tobacco stocks were fractionally higher.

Fractional losses were taken by U. S. rubber, International Harvester, Caterpillar, Anaconda, General Electric and Standard Oil (New Jersey). Youngstown Sheet, Chance Vought and Du Pont were ahead around a point each.

U. S. government bonds edged to the upside.

SKIPORT — Quebec's Mont Tremblant, highest of the Laurentian mountains north of Montreal, soon will provide shirt-sleeve skiing and suntanning in the balmy March sun. Chair lifts on the north and south slopes transport skiers and sightseers to the network of ski trails on the upper slopes, where good ski sport is available until Easter, sometimes later. At the base of the mountain is a story-book village of tiny chalets, lodges, a steepled chapel and gaily-colored shops, a favorite of American visitors.

Widow Can't Get Treatment

It's Too Late For GI Insurance

Veterans who have a question of interest to ex-servicemen should pass it along to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer Jim Shea. His offices are in the basement of the Courthouse in Circleville)

Q—I am the widow of a WWI veteran who at the time of his death was receiving a total non-service connected pension. I am in the need of constant medical attention. Can I get this from the Veterans Administration.

A—I am sorry, but you cannot. There is no law by which medical attention is provided at VA expense for any dependent of a deceased veteran. Even if your husband were in receipt of a service-connected compensation at the time of his death, the VA could not provide medical treatment for you.

Q—When I was discharged in 1946, I dropped my GI Insurance. Can I pick it up, and reinstate it now?

A—No.

Q—Is a veteran with an undesirable discharge entitled to unemployment benefits?

A—According to the law, a veteran is entitled to unemployment compensation provided he was discharged under other than dishonorable conditions. While an undesirable discharge is pushing it pretty close, it is not dishonorable, and you should be entitled to this benefit.

Q — IF A SERVICE-connected disability causes another disability, is the aggravated condition the responsibility of the Veterans Administration?

A—Yes. If a service-connected disability causes another disability, the aggravated condition is also considered service-connected, and the VA will allow out-patient treatment for the aggravated condition, and could very easily increase your compensation because of it.

Q—What is the latest on payments of the Korean State Bonus?

A—The magic number at present is 166,000. Any veteran with a Korean bonus claim number lower than 166,000 who has not heard anything from the Korean Bonus Commission regarding his claim should contact this office in order that correspondence may be sent regarding the claim.

Q—Is it still possible for a World War II veteran to get a GI Loan?

A—It is still possible for a World War II veteran to get a GI Loan, provided he can find a lending agency that will lend to him. The deadline date for GI Loans for World War II veterans is July 25, 1958.

New Hollander Shoots Self

Hospital officials said the bullet entered behind the nose and did not touch the brain. Bowdle never lost consciousness, Radcliff said.

Bowdle told Deputy Radcliff that he was depressed due to pressing financial difficulties. He operates a service station in New Holland and also operates several trucks of his own.

Radcliff said Bowdle was in fair condition today.

Tax Cut Roller-Coaster

Events pile up at ever-increasing speed, and that which may be regarded as a foregone conclusion one day, is a gone conclusion the next. Take tax cuts, for example.

A year ago pressure was mounting on Congress to cut spending and taxes. Then came the Russian sputniks. Over night it was accepted as certain there would be no tax cuts.

But this is February, 1958, and an American satellite is now up there. And taxes may come down, after all. That's the latest possibility direct from the mouths of the more voluble Congressmen.

One Congressman mentioned a cut of $2 billion in income taxes as desirable to boost purchasing power. But now he has been raised by other Congressmen to $5 billion and even $10 billion. Nothing short of one of the last two figures would have the desired result, they contend.

Where such a reduction would leave the budget is not even mentioned. Greatly in the red, obviously.

If income and other federal taxes are ever to be reduced, reductions must be made before the government has a big surplus. As long as the money pours in, it will be spent. But a budget so heavily unbalanced that a big deficit results can lead to more disastrous consequences than high taxes.

Brains Where You Find Them

It figures—the story of the inventor who offered suggestions for an atomic furnace to the Atomic Research Laboratory at Berkeley, Calif., but was regarded as "crazy" and his ideas duly filed.

It is becoming increasingly difficult to differentiate between genius and madness.

A year after the atomic scientists put the ideas of Nick Christofilos on ice, unread, scientists at Brookhaven National Laboratory announced discovery of the principle of "strong focusing," which will make possible the building of a huge atomic furnace at an estimated saving of $70 million.

But what they had discovered the hard way was all in "Crazy Christofilos' " letter. In fact, Christofilos had patented his discovery.

As Dr. George K. Green of Brookhaven told the story to the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, the government gave the inventor a job and $10,000 for use of his patent.

Previously he was an electrical engineer employed by an elevator company. Scientists are where you find them, it seems, and they may only seem crazy.

Tennessee Williams - Concluded

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Playwright Tennessee Williams has joined the legion of those who seek on an analyst's couch an answer to their tensions.

"I had two kinds of tranquilizers this afternoon," he apologized as, shirt-sleeved and yawning, he opened the door of his apartment. "I'm still sleepy."

Five times a week, Tennessee, a small graceful man with a brown mustache, goes to a psychoanalyst who has helped iron out the ids and firm up the egos of a number of celebrated theater folk. At $50 an hour this is a mental comfort Williams could not afford during a poverty-ridden, second - class childhood. But now he thinks it's well worth the money.

"I find it immensely stimulating," he said as he sat down in a sofa across from a large bust of Lord Byron.

"My tensions had accumulated to a point where I felt I wanted to do something about ending them. It's an exciting adventure. You discover new things about yourself; gradual revelations, some of which you fight—and there is a mysterious change in your behavior.

"I have always suffered from claustrophobia and a fear of suffocation, of not being able to breathe," he said.

But psychoanalysis, so far as he can tell, hasn't affected his work. Two of his plays are currently on the boards at an off-Broadway theater. Tennessee also gets up as early as 5 a.m. to put in two or three hours on his latest play before going to see his analyst.

To some critics, Williams is one of the most gifted and forceful playwrights of the 20th century. To others, outraged by his use of dramatic themes ranging from cannibalism to homosexualism, he is a twisted writer whose idea of a holiday is to go rowboating in a sewer.

"Not all my plays, by any means, are violent," he said. "And they are more concerned with morality than most plays.

"All plays that explore evil and the roots of it in people, and the conditions that produce it, are moral. But some people will always regard them as immoral."

"The fear of a threat to his personal security is at the root of every person's violence and hatreds," he said.

"The main evil of our time is overpopulation — people having more children than they can care for properly, because they are so harassed by the mere task of making a living they don't have time to give proper love.

"I don't understand," said Tennessee, who is a bachelor, "why nothing is done to stop this spawning of children in families that can't even afford to have one. It is a crime, an awful crime."

Huge Carryover Costs Us

By George Sokolsky

The eternal problem of governments is how to raise money to do all that a bureaucracy can think up. The eternal problem of the taxpayer is to keep enough of his earnings to provide for a livelihood and to leave something for his family should he die at the wrong time. This is a universal struggle, not limited to our society. It is so general that many of the rebellions against governments, including the American Revolution against England, were over taxes.

But here, in the United States, at this time, it is exaggerated by the inordinately high cost of government, costs which outrage public opinion in the aggregate but which are supported by public opinion in the details of supports and benefits and subsidies which the various elements desire for themselves. It is impossible to cut taxes if everybody wants a subsidy out of taxes.

One of the major difficulties about our problem is that nobody quite knows what the American budget is. The accountancy methods are so obsolete that it is difficult to discover what a $70 billion carryover means. That is what the Hoover Commission discovered, namely that the United States Treasury has a carryover of $70 billion. Our budget in 1957 was $71.8 billion; the carryover from other years amounted to $70 billion, nearly one year's government expenditure. No accountant would pass that sort of thing for a private firm; the Internal Revenue Service would not tolerate such an accrual. It would demand that the funds be used or be distributed.

So the Senate passed the Kennedy-Payne-Byrd Bill to place the budget on an annual accrued expenditure basis which is the businesslike way of doing it. Who can oppose the application of businesslike methods to the public business? It must be those who believe that nothing should ever be done if it ain't never before been done that way.

One of the governmental problems which always faces a republic, the most serious, is how the public purse is controlled. When a king controlled the public purse, it was his private property to do with as he chose. The Constitution of the United States gave that function to Congress with initiating authority in the House of Representatives. In a word, control of the public purse was put closest to the people themselves. It was not given, in the Constitution, to the President.

By various devices, during periods of crisis, the Executive has invaded this authority to the point where not the Congress but the bureaucracy gained the initiating control over the budget. This has been justified by the need for expertness in handling many budgetary details, but such expertness has not proved itself. Rather huge sums of money have been hidden in the books—$70 billion.

The problem is to put the government on a cost accounting basis, so that there can be exact, daily information as to what is being expended. Nothing can be hidden. Padding would expose itself. Neither hiding nor padding is ipso facto wrong; it is a process in government for the bureaucracy to be able to function without the authority of Congress, or to provide for delayed enterprises.

It does not mean that anyone steals the money; it remains in the Treasury but is not immediately used as intended. Our government need not accumulate funds; if there is any accumulating to do, that should be the function of the taxpayer.

As a matter of fact, what is held as a carryover is really money taken out of the economy and is lying dead, producing no wealth and no work. That same money, in the hands of the taxpayers, could, in our particular economy, turn over 20 to 30 times a year, producing increased wealth and giving jobs to many a worker.

Therefore H.R. 8022, now before the House of Representatives, is a measure which in the long run sets up a modern system of accounting for the government but as applied to present conditions is a measure for the reduction of the depression conditions into which we are falling.

For what reasons do some members of Congress defend the concept of a huge "carryover"? Are they afraid that Congress will one day refuse to vote them funds for their pet wastes? Are they afraid that a proper accounting system would disclose their failure to protect the public purse!

High Court OKs Curb On Cleveland Dump

"Hello. Internal Revenue Service?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

LONG-SUFFERING HUSBAND of an erratic — to put it mildly—lady driver handed her two loaded bags—one large, one small—just before she set out for a hundred-mile journey. "The big bag," he told her, "contains a hammer. Every time you run into something or somebody, I want you to promise me you'll pull out the hammer and hit yourself on the head."

The husband said, "Aspirin."

Choleric business tycoon was having a tough time calling his New York office from a beach resort in Florida, and wasn't helping any by heaping a steady stream of abuse upon the defenseless long-distance operator. Finally he yelled, "Get me the supervisor! What am I around here—a third-class citizen, an idiot, or what?"

"Sorry, sir," purred the operator sweetly, "but we are not allowed to give out that information."

Decrease Eczema's Itching

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

The more you worry about eczema, the worse it is likely to become. When you worry about the condition you are apt to tear and rub your skin.

One of the best pieces of advice I can give anyone with eczema is to keep the hands away from the affected area, whether it is the face, arms, legs —anywhere.

What if the condition itches?

Well, itching, as I have explained in previous columns, is about halfway between pain and the pleasurable tickle. Most doctors agree that nervous instability and certain other factors lower the degree of irritation necessary to cause itching.

Since eczema patients in general are emotionally unstable, it often is difficult to prevent a low itch threshold. Yet there are a number of things which you can do to help prevent unnecessary itching.

Heavy drinking of coffee and heavy smoking often lower the itch threshold. Two packs of cigarettes a day is too much for anybody, particularly for anyone suffering from eczema.

Cutting down on cigarettes may do a great deal to help clear up the condition, especially since it will probably ease the irritation caused by itching and the undeniable urge to scratch.

Likewise, coffee, also a stimulant, is probably something a person with eczema may well do without. Switching to a coffee substitute may help as much as cutting down on smoking.

It is generally advisable for any eczema patient to avoid soaping and rubbing the affected area. Olive oil, mineral oil, linseed oil or a cleansing cream may be dabbed on the area with cotton to clean it.

If the eczema is on your body, take only infrequent baths. The water should be tepid and you should dry yourself by patting gently with a soft hand towel.

Adding such items as one cup of sodium bicarbonate, or two spoonsful of gelatin, or one pound of starch to the bath water may be soothing. Check with your doctor and see if he recommends that you use any of these mixtures.

Question and Answer

J. T.: I have been operated on for appendicitis. However, my white blood count was not elevated before operation. Is this possible?

Answer: In many cases, even though the condition may be severe, the blood count is not elevated at the onset.

All In a Night's Work

Police say he apparently squeezed through bars eight inches apart on the basement window of a tavern, removed a door panel to get upstairs, climbed into the attic, cut a hole in the ceiling of a room where the safe was, and dropped down.

They said he then tried to push the 500-pound safe to the tavern door, but gave up. He got the $37 from a cash register and crawled out through a rest room window.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration — within a week after the President spoke optimistically about it—seems to be having second thoughts on when the recession will start disappearing.

On Feb. 12—one day after government statistics showed 4½ million people unemployed — Eisenhower issued a special, reassuring statement on the outlook for the down-sliding economy.

He said in part: "From the best advice I can get, and on my own study of the facts regularly placed before me, I believe that we have had most of our bad news on the unemployment front."

But Wednesday Eisenhower's special assistant on economic affairs, Dr. Gabriel Hauge, made a speech saying the President's statement had been "misread by some people." He said this was a problem in communications.

But Hauge himself almost certainly must have read the presidential statement before it was written and may have had a very influential hand in writing it.

Hauge said: ". . . The March figures (on unemployment) will become available during the second week in April. It is most unlikely the February figures reported in March will show any improvement over the January figures reported last week. Rather the contrary is to be expected."

But that hardly jibes with what Eisenhower said and it is difficult to see how what he said could have been misread by anyone. Eisenhower said he believes "we have had most of our bad news on the unemployment front."

But if Hauge is right—that the February figures, to be issued in March, will probably show more unemployment than in January—then Eisenhower was wrong in saying most of the bad news is past.

Eisenhower also said Feb. 12: ". . . Every indication is that March will commence to see the start of a pickup in job opportunities." That was a pretty heavily qualified statement.

Even so a number of economists disagreed with the President. They didn't say an upswing wouldn't come eventually. But they were skeptical that March "will commence to see the start of a pickup in job opportunities."

It was, perhaps, this reaction of economists which Hauge had in mind when he said the President's words were "misread by some people." So Hauge set out to correct anyone who thought Eisenhower had forecast an upturn in the economy in March. He said that was a "mistaken impression."

He wound up qualifying his correction more heavily than Eisenhower did his original statement. This is what Hauge said: "Improved employment in March, reported in April, should constitute a good sign that the downturn was running out of steam."

Eisenhower said that a pickup in employment in March "should mark the beginning of the end of the downturn in our economy."

Hauge didn't seem to want to go that far. He said: "Obviously, an economy as vast and complex as ours does not change its direction abruptly and proceed to turn around on a dime."

Hauge said he would expect to see the downturn "slow to a stop during the second quarter." The second quarter runs from April 1 to July 1.

Tax Cut Roller-Coaster

Events pile up at ever-increasing speed, and that which may be regarded as a foregone conclusion one day, is a gone conclusion the next. Take tax cuts, for example.

A year ago pressure was mounting on Congress to cut spending and taxes. Then came the Russian sputniks. Over night it was accepted as certain there would be no tax cuts.

But this is February, 1958, and an American satellite is now up there. And taxes may come down, after all. That's the latest possibility direct from the mouths of the more voluble Congressmen.

One Congressman mentioned a cut of $2 billion in income taxes as desirable to boost purchasing power. But now he has been raised by other Congressmen to $5 billion and even $10 billion. Nothing short of one of the last two figures would have the desired result, they contend.

Where such a reduction would leave the budget is not even mentioned. Greatly in the red, obviously.

If income and other federal taxes are ever to be reduced, reductions must be made before the government has a big surplus. As long as the money pours in, it will be spent. But a budget so heavily unbalanced that a big deficit results can lead to more disastrous consequences than high taxes.

Brains Where You Find Them

It figures—the story of the inventor who offered suggestions for an atomic furnace to the Atomic Research Laboratory at Berkeley, Calif., but was regarded as "crazy" and his ideas duly filed.

It is becoming increasingly difficult to differentiate between genius and madness.

A year after the atomic scientists put the ideas of Nick Christofilos on ice, unread, scientists at Brookhaven National Laboratory announced discovery of the principle of "strong focusing," which will make possible the building of a huge atomic furnace at an estimated saving of $70 million.

But what they had discovered the hard way was all in "Crazy Christofilos' " letter. In fact, Christofilos had patented his discovery.

As Dr. George K. Green of Brookhaven told the story to the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, the government gave the inventor a job and $10,000 for use of his patent.

Previously he was an electrical engineer employed by an elevator company. Scientists are where you find them, it seems, and they may only seem crazy.

Tennessee Williams - Concluded

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Playwright Tennessee Williams has joined the legion of those who seek on an analyst's couch an answer to their tensions.

"I had two kinds of tranquilizers this afternoon," he apologized as, shirt-sleeved and yawning, he opened the door of his apartment. "I'm still sleepy."

Five times a week, Tennessee, a small graceful man with a brown mustache, goes to a psychoanalyst who has helped iron out the ids and firm up the egos of a number of celebrated theater folk. At $50 an hour this is a mental comfort Williams could not afford during a poverty-ridden, second - class childhood. But now he thinks it's well worth the money.

"I find it immensely stimulating," he said as he sat down in a sofa across from a large bust of Lord Byron.

"My tensions had accumulated to a point where I felt I wanted to do something about ending them. It's an exciting adventure. You discover new things about yourself; gradual revelations, some of which you fight—and there is a mysterious change in your behavior.

"I have always suffered from claustrophobia and a fear of suffocation, of not being able to breathe," he said.

But psychoanalysis, so far as he can tell, hasn't affected his work. Two of his plays are currently on the boards at an off-Broadway theater. Tennessee also gets up as early as 5 a.m. to put in two or three hours on his latest play before going to see his analyst.

To some critics, Williams is one of the most gifted and forceful playwrights of the 20th century. To others, outraged by his use of dramatic themes ranging from cannibalism to homosexualism, he is a twisted writer whose idea of a holiday is to go rowboating in a sewer.

"Not all my plays, by any means, are violent," he said. "And they are more concerned with morality than most plays.

"All plays that explore evil and the roots of it in people, and the conditions that produce it, are moral. But some people will always regard them as immoral."

"The fear of a threat to his personal security is at the root of every person's violence and hatreds," he said.

"The main evil of our time is overpopulation — people having more children than they can care for properly, because they are so harassed by the mere task of making a living they don't have time to give proper love.

"I don't understand," said Tennessee, who is a bachelor, "why nothing is done to stop this spawning of children in families that can't even afford to have one. It is a crime, an awful crime."

Huge Carryover Costs Us

By George Sokolsky

The eternal problem of governments is how to raise money to do all that a bureaucracy can think up. The eternal problem of the taxpayer is to keep enough of his earnings to provide for a livelihood and to leave something for his family should he die at the wrong time. This is a universal struggle, not limited to our society. It is so general that many of the rebellions against governments, including the American Revolution against England, were over taxes.

But here, in the United States, at this time, it is exaggerated by the inordinately high cost of government, costs which outrage public opinion in the aggregate but which are supported by public opinion in the details of supports and benefits and subsidies which the various elements desire for themselves. It is impossible to cut taxes if everybody wants a subsidy out of taxes.

One of the major difficulties about our problem is that nobody quite knows what the American budget is. The accountancy methods are so obsolete that it is difficult to discover what a $70 billion carryover means. That is what the Hoover Commission discovered, namely that the United States Treasury has a carryover of $70 billion. Our budget in 1957 was $71.8 billion; the carryover from other years amounted to $70 billion, nearly one year's government expenditure. No accountant would pass that sort of thing for a private firm; the Internal Revenue Service would not tolerate such an accrual. It would demand that the funds be used or be distributed.

So the Senate passed the Kennedy-Payne-Byrd Bill to place the budget on an annual accrued expenditure basis which is the businesslike way of doing it. Who can oppose the application of businesslike methods to the public business? It must be those who believe that nothing should ever be done if it ain't never before been done that way.

One of the governmental problems which always faces a republic, the most serious, is how the public purse is controlled. When a king controlled the public purse, it was his private property to do with as he chose. The Constitution of the United States gave that function to Congress with initiating authority in the House of Representatives. In a word, control of the public purse was put closest to the people themselves. It was not given, in the Constitution, to the President.

By various devices, during periods of crisis, the Executive has invaded this authority to the point where not the Congress but the bureaucracy gained the initiating control over the budget. This has been justified by the need for expertness in handling many budgetary details, but such expertness has not proved itself. Rather huge sums of money have been hidden in the books—$70 billion.

The problem is to put the government on a cost accounting basis, so that there can be exact, daily information as to what is being expended. Nothing can be hidden. Padding would expose itself. Neither hiding nor padding is ipso facto wrong; it is a process in government for the bureaucracy to be able to function without the authority of Congress, or to provide for delayed enterprises.

It does not mean that anyone steals the money; it remains in the Treasury but is not immediately used as intended. Our government need not accumulate funds; if there is any accumulating to do, that should be the function of the taxpayer.

As a matter of fact, what is held as a carryover is really money taken out of the economy and is lying dead, producing no wealth and no work. That same money, in the hands of the taxpayers, could, in our particular economy, turn over 20 to 30 times a year, producing increased wealth and giving jobs to many a worker.

Therefore H.R. 8022, now before the House of Representatives, is a measure which in the long run sets up a modern system of accounting for the government but as applied to present conditions is a measure for the reduction of the depression conditions into which we are falling.

For what reasons do some members of Congress defend the concept of a huge "carryover"? Are they afraid that Congress will one day refuse to vote them funds for their pet wastes? Are they afraid that a proper accounting system would disclose their failure to protect the public purse!

Decrease Eczema's Itching

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

The more you worry about eczema, the worse it is likely to become. When you worry about the condition you are apt to tear and rub your skin.

One of the best pieces of advice I can give anyone with eczema is to keep the hands away from the affected area, whether it is the face, arms, legs —anywhere.

What if the condition itches?

Well, itching, as I have explained in previous columns, is about halfway between pain and the pleasurable tickle. Most doctors agree that nervous instability and certain other factors lower the degree of irritation necessary to cause itching.

Since eczema patients in general are emotionally unstable, it often is difficult to prevent a low itch threshold. Yet there are a number of things which you can do to help prevent unnecessary itching.

Likewise, coffee, also a stimulant, is probably something a person with eczema may well do without. Switching to a coffee substitute may help as much as cutting down on smoking.

It is generally advisable for any eczema patient to avoid soaping and rubbing the affected area. Olive oil, mineral oil, linseed oil or a cleansing cream may be dabbed on the area with cotton to clean it.

If the eczema is on your body, take only infrequent baths. The water should be tepid and you should dry yourself by patting gently with a soft hand towel.

Adding such items as one cup of sodium bicarbonate, or two spoonsful of gelatin, or one pound of starch to the bath water may be soothing. Check with your doctor and see if he recommends that you use any of these mixtures.

Judge To Determine Reasonable Reward

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—How much reward should a man get for finding $10,750 in cash and returning it to its owner

In it, he found $10,750 in currency. He turned it over to Thomas E. Marchand, executor.

Marchand asked the judge to decide the amount of Nibbelink's "reasonable reward," as authorized by state law.

Injuries Net $65,000

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mark Smith, 22, a Chicago college student who suffered back injuries in an accident while working as a deckhand on a lake freighter, received a $65,000 settlement Wednesday from the Kinsman Transit Co.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: One evening last Spring the telephone rang and my husband answered. It was a secretary from the office—one of two women with whom he's been riding to work for two years (except when the other woman was on vacation; then they two were alone).

She was crying and he could hardly understand her. But he put on his shoes and was out of the house in nothing flat. An hour later he was back, and said only, "It was the silliest thing."

Not until this month was I told that she'd had a couple of drinks at a friend's house; had run her car off the road; and instead of calling her parents or the people with whom she'd been drinking, she called Ed. He summoned help and had her car pulled out of this ditch. She never called to thank me for letting my husband go to her rescue.

When I mentioned this to a friend, she said, "Why honey, people have been talking about them for a year. They're said to be sweet on each other." When I told Ed he was being talked about, he said people were just jealous of Di. (When she can't deliver him to the office, she never gives me the simple message, always asks for him).

We've had lots of trouble over this, and Ed has said things to me and called me a name I can't forget. Am I wrong in feeling he shouldn't ride with Di any more? I feel he has been disloyal to me. Di is a divorcee 36, and has a child. Ed is 49. In over a year, he hasn't once called me by name. Also he is very gloomy around the house, and at first (poor stupid me) I thought he was ill.

However, he is home every night; so I know he isn't seeing her (except at the office). I am very upset and unhappy.

W. F.

DEAR W.F: It appears that your husband is in a jam—pursued on the one hand by a man-hungry divorcee; and harassed about it on the other hand by his bitterly upset wife. He is caught in the middle, between the devil and the deep blue sea, and consequently miserable. Hence his very gloomy air at home—which is also a defense against intimate quizzing, no doubt.

However, let's not encourage him in self pity. He isn't a very deserving person in the circumstances. In a sense he is wronging Di, as well as you. He is encouraging her pursuit, at least indirectly; because if he weren't, she would give up.

The sentimental effrontery of her SOS to him, late in the evening, when her car went into the ditch, and the headlong alacrity of his response, shows how the wind blows in their "understanding."

Towards the end of 50 years' practice, a worldly wise doctor once said that in any triangle involving a married man and a single woman, the man holds the acecards and knows it. If he lets the problem drag on and fester, and damage his marriage and cloud reputations, it is his doing, because he is the central character.

Now for a word of advice to you: Avoid nagging melancholy. Be sunny and companionable with Ed, looking towards a better future, not towards mistakes of the past. Don't keep the problem in mind. Cultivate wifely confidence and devotion in your thought-feelings.

But don't hesitate to deal flatly with Di, if as and when she oversteps in your domain. For example, when she phones and insists upon speaking to Ed, you are entitled to insist (if you like) upon taking the message, if any; and you owe her no explanation as to why. Whether he's in, or out, or busy at the time is a matter for you to settle with him—and she might as well get the pitch that you're on the inside, and she is not.

M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Cairo claims Egypt reasserted rights to the territory when agreeing to the Sudan's independence proclamation of Jan. 1, 1956. That proclamation ended 57 years of Egyptian-British rule.

Staff Chief Selected for Rights Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — One more stumbling block to the functioning of the new Civil Rights Commission was cleared away today with President Eisenhower's nomination of a staff director.

The President announced in Thomasville, Ga., where he is vacationing, that he was naming Gordon M. Tiffany, a former New Hampshire attorney general, for the $22,500-a-year post.

Tiffy said he was accepting the job with "an open mind" and had no preconceived notions about bitterly contested civil rights issues.

As a lawyer, Tiffany has appeared before federal agencies and courts in Washington, but he is not known to most members of Congress.

The six - member commission, provided for in the Civil Rights Act passed by Congress last year, has been marking time while waiting for a staff director to be named. Not even a clerk has yet been hired.

The commission's assignment is to investigate sworn charges of the denial of voting rights because of race, creed or color and to study federal laws and practices relating to civil rights generally.

The fulltime staff director will be responsible for supervising the group's day-to-day activities. His appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

The commission members themselves have not yet been confirmed by the Senate.

Defiance Countian Loses on Appeal

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday denied Catherine M. McCann, land owner north of Defiance, an order for permission to tap a water line built along the highway next to her property to serve an American Louisiana Pipe Line Co. compressor station.

Tre decision upheld an Appellate Court declaration that the Legislature lacks power to restrict the constitutional authority of a municipality owning and operating a public utility to sell part of its surplus product to nonresidents.

Both courts declared unconstitutional a section of law seeking to require a municipality to supply nonresidents with water and limit the rate charged.

Light Switch Seen Cause of Blast

COLUMBUS (AP) — A light being switched on apparently touched off gas which had accumulated in the basement of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints here.

The blast, during prayer services Wednesday night, blew out windows and doors. William Stewart, 45, was burned slightly on the hands and arms, but 20 other persons escaped injury.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: One evening last Spring the telephone rang and my husband answered. It was a secretary from the office—one of two women with whom he's been riding to work for two years (except when the other woman was on vacation; then they two were alone).

She was crying and he could hardly understand her. But he put on his shoes and was out of the house in nothing flat. An hour later he was back, and said only, "It was the silliest thing."

Not until this month was I told that she'd had a couple of drinks at a friend's house; had run her car off the road; and instead of calling her parents or the people with whom she'd been drinking, she called Ed. He summoned help and had her car pulled out of this ditch. She never called to thank me for letting my husband go to her rescue.

When I mentioned this to a friend, she said, "Why honey, people have been talking about them for a year. They're said to be sweet on each other." When I told Ed he was being talked about, he said people were just jealous of Di. (When she can't deliver him to the office, she never gives me the simple message, always asks for him).

We've had lots of trouble over this, and Ed has said things to me and called me a name I can't forget. Am I wrong in feeling he shouldn't ride with Di any more? I feel he has been disloyal to me. Di is a divorcee 36, and has a child. Ed is 49. In over a year, he hasn't once called me by name. Also he is very gloomy around the house, and at first (poor stupid me) I thought he was ill.

However, he is home every night; so I know he isn't seeing her (except at the office). I am very upset and unhappy.

W. F.

DEAR W.F: It appears that your husband is in a jam—pursued on the one hand by a man-hungry divorcee; and harassed about it on the other hand by his bitterly upset wife. He is caught in the middle, between the devil and the deep blue sea, and consequently miserable. Hence his very gloomy air at home—which is also a defense against intimate quizzing, no doubt.

However, let's not encourage him in self pity. He isn't a very deserving person in the circumstances. In a sense he is wronging Di, as well as you. He is encouraging her pursuit, at least indirectly; because if he weren't, she would give up.

The sentimental effrontery of her SOS to him, late in the evening, when her car went into the ditch, and the headlong alacrity of his response, shows how the wind blows in their "understanding."

Towards the end of 30 years' practice, a worldly wise doctor once said that in any triangle involving a married man and a single woman, the man holds the ace-cards and knows it. If he lets the problem drag on and fester, and damage his marriage and cloud reputations, it is his doing, because he is the central character.

Now for a word of advice to you: Avoid nagging melancholy. Be sunny and companionable with Ed, looking towards a better future, not towards mistakes of the past. Don't keep the problem in mind. Cultivate wifely confidence and devotion in your thought-feelings.

But don't hesitate to deal flatly with Di, if as and when she oversteps in your domain. For example, when she phones and insists upon speaking to Ed, you are entitled to insist (if you like) upon taking the message, if any; and you owe her no explanation as to why. Whether he's in, or out, or busy at the time is a matter for you to settle with him—and she might as well get the pitch that you're on the inside, and she is not.

M. H.

Judge To Determine Reasonable Reward

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—How much reward should a man get for finding $10,750 in cash and returning it to its owner

In it, he found $10,750 in currency. He turned it over to Thomas E. Marchand, executor.

Marchand asked the judge to decide the amount of Nibblelink's "reasonable reward," as authorized by state law.

Household Hints

Mix diced cooked shrimp with finely diced celery and pimiento-stuffed olives; season with salt and pepper and add enough mayonnaise to moisten. Use as a salad or sandwich filling.

Delicious Cherry Sauce The General Would Like

"Here, Madame, is my contribution to the celebration of George Washington's birthday this week," announced the Chef. "It is a combination of the cherries with which his name is connected and fine American cranberries.

"Please taste, and, I hope, approve."

I tasted—approved — and hope you do the same.

Cherry-Cranberry Sauce: In a saucepan, mix together 1-3 c. sugar and 4 tsp. cornstarch. Drain in the liquid from 1 (1 lb.) can water - packed, red sour pitted cherries. Stir until blended.

With a fork, stir up and add 1 (1 lb.) can jellied cranberry sauce. Cook-stir until the mixture boils and the cranberry sauce melts.

Remove from the heat. Beat with a rotary beater until smooth. Stir in ½ tbsp. lemon juice and ½ tsp. crushed grated lemon rind. Cool.

Serve spooned over ice cream, vanilla pudding or cake. Or use as an accessory to cooked chicken or poultry, stirring in ⅛ tsp. each nutmeg and ground cloves. Serve hot.

Apple Meringue Pie: Line a 9-in. pie plate with flaky American pie pastry, rolled a scant ¼ in. thick. Dust the bottom with 1 tsp. dry bread crumbs, lightly pressing them in.

Make the filling as follows: combine 2 c. tart applesauce with 1 c. sugar, 1 tbsp. flour and the juice and crushed grated rind 1 lemon.

Separate 3 eggs. Beat the yolks until creamy. Add to the apple mixture. Pour into the lined pie plate.

Bake 10 min. in a hot oven, 400 degrees F. Reduce the heat to 375 degrees F. Continue to bake about 20 min., or until the pie is firm in the center.

Bake 12 min. in a slow oven, 325 degrees F. Serve cold the day it is made.

CHERRY-CRANBERRY SAUCE is something new to spoon over ice cream, cake or pudding or serve with broiled chicken.

Remove the yolks. Mash smooth with 1 tbsp. mayonnaise, 1 tsp. table mustard, ¼ tsp. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper and 1 tbsp. minced parsley.

Half fill the empty egg white halves with flaked tuna or sardine fillets. Smooth-mound the egg yolk mixture over the tops. Garnish with pimiento dots.

Serve in nests of lettuce. Pass Russian dressing.

Mr. Burwell Guest For Garden Club

Members are asked to bring an arrangement made of floral materials from house plants. The title is to be "Impersonations".

A MEATLESS MEAL that's exotic features tuna fish and vegetables in a zippy soy sauce. They are spooned over thin egg noodles that have been browned and crisped in hot oil.

READY FOR LENT

Keep tuna fish on the pantry shelf. With Lenten days ahead, you'll find it comes in handy when planning meatless meals.

Serve it Oriental style on noodles, but not the usual kind. These are noodles that have been crisped in deep fat. The tuna, cooked with mushrooms, celery, onions, pimiento, green pepper and pickles, thickened with cornstarch is spooned over to make a dish that would please a mandarin.

The specialty here is cheese sauce made with evaporated milk — it blends faster and easier — takes just three minutes cooking time from first to last stir. Broccoli spears and tomato wedges top off the dish, which is oven-browned just before serving.

Both recipes are good for Lent or for any day during the year when the family's in a mood for something hot and hearty.

Tuna On Fried Egg Noodles

Melt ¼ c. butter or margarine and add ½ lb. fresh mushrooms, cleaned and sliced. Cook over medium heat until mushrooms are tender and lightly browned.

Combine 2 tbsp. cornstarch, one-third c. cold water, 2 tbsp. soy sauce; mix well and add to vegetable mixture. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add 2 canned pimientos, coarsely diced and 1 medium-sized green pepper, corasely diced.

Break into pieces with a fork 1 (7-oz.) can solid-pack tuna, drained. Add to vegetable mixture, with ½ c. coarsely chopped sweet mixed pickles, and heat to serving temperature.

Cook 8 oz. (4 c.) fine egg noodles in hot deep fat (350 deg. F.) 5 to 8 min., or until lightly browned and crisp; drain on absorbent paper and sprinkle with salt. Serve tuna over noodles to 4 to 6 people.

Broiled Tuna Spaghetti Au Gratin

Add 2 tbsp. salt to 4 to 6 qts. rapidly boiling water. Gradually add 1 lb. spaghetti so water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally until tender. Drain in colander.

Simmer 1 2-3 c. (large can) undiluted evaporated milk, ½ tsp. salt, 2 tsp. dry mustard in saucepan over medium heat to just below boiling (about 2 min.). Add 2 c. (about 8 oz.) grated process American cheese; stir over medium heat until cheese melts, about 1 min. longer.

Mix cheese sauce with 2 (7-oz.) cans solid-pack tuna, drained, 1 c. sliced mushrooms, one-third c. sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives. Mix well.

Arrange spaghetti, 6 to 8 broccoli spears, cooked, and wedges of 1 medium-sized tomato, in 3-qt. baking dish. Top with cheese-tuna mixture. Sprinkle with ¼ c. grated parmesan cheese. Broil 5 to 7 in. from source of heat for 10 to 12 min. or until lightly browned. Serves 6 to 8.

Delicious Cherry Sauce

"Here, Madame, is my contribution to the celebration of George Washington's birthday this week," announced the Chef. "It is a combination of the cherries with which his name is connected and fine American cranberries.

"Please taste, and, I hope, approve."

I tasted—approved — and hope you do the same.

Cherry-Cranberry Sauce: In a saucepan, mix together 1-3 c. sugar and 4 tsp. cornstarch. Drain in the liquid from 1 (1 lb.) can water - packed, red sour pitted cherries. Stir until blended.

With a fork, stir up and add 1 (1 lb.) can jellied cranberry sauce. Cook-stir until the mixture boils and the cranberry sauce melts.

Remove from the heat. Beat with a rotary beater until smooth. Stir in ½ tbsp. lemon juice and ½ tsp. crushed grated lemon rind. Cool.

Serve spooned over ice cream, vanilla pudding or cake. Or use as an accessory to cooked chicken or poultry, stirring in ⅛ tsp. each nutmeg and ground cloves. Serve hot.

Apple Meringue Pie: Line a 9-in. pie plate with flaky American pie pastry, rolled a scant ¼ in. thick. Dust the bottom with 1 tsp. dry bread crumbs, lightly pressing them in.

Make the filling as follows: combine 2 c. tart applesauce with 1 c. sugar, 1 tbsp. flour and the juice and crushed grated rind 1 lemon.

Separate 3 eggs. Beat the yolks until creamy. Add to the apple mixture. Pour into the lined pie plate.

Bake 10 min. in a hot oven, 400 degrees F. Reduce the heat to 375 degrees F. Continue to bake about 20 min., or until the pie is firm in the center.

CHERRY-CRANBERRY SAUCE is something new to spoon over ice cream, cake or pudding or serve with broiled chicken.

The General Would Like

Bake 12 min. in a slow oven, 325 degrees F. Serve cold the day it is made.

Remove the yolks. Mash smooth with 1 tbsp. mayonnaise, 1 tsp. table mustard, ¼ tsp. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper and 1 tbsp. minced parsley.

Half fill the empty egg white halves with flaked tuna or sardine fillets. Smooth-mound the egg yolk mixture over the tops. Garnish with pimiento dots.

Serve in nests of lettuce. Pass Russian dressing.

Members are asked to bring an arrangement made of floral materials from house plants. The title is to be "Impersonations".

A MEATLESS MEAL that's exotic features tuna fish and vegetables in a zippy soy sauce. They are spooned over thin egg noodles that have been browned and crisped in hot oil.

READY FOR LENT

Keep tuna fish on the pantry shelf. With Lenten days ahead, you'll find it comes in handy when planning meatless meals.

Serve it Oriental style on noodles, but not the usual kind. These are noodles that have been crisped in deep fat. The tuna, cooked with mushrooms, celery, onions, pimiento, green pepper and pickles, thickened with cornstarch is spooned over to make a dish that would please a mandarin.

The specialty here is cheese sauce made with evaporated milk — it blends faster and easier — takes just three minutes cooking time from first to last stir. Broccoli spears and tomato wedges top off the dish, which is oven-browned just before serving.

Both recipes are good for Lent or for any day during the year when the family's in a mood for something hot and hearty.

Tuna On Fried Egg Noodles

Melt ¼ c. butter or margarine and add ½ lb. fresh mushrooms, cleaned and sliced. Cook over medium heat until mushrooms are tender and lightly browned.

Combine 2 tbsp. cornstarch, one-third c. cold water, 2 tbsp. soy sauce; mix well and add to vegetable mixture. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add 2 canned pimientos, coarsely diced and 1 medium-sized green pepper, corasely diced.

Break into pieces with a fork 1 (7-oz.) can solid-pack tuna, drained. Add to vegetable mixture, with ½ c. coarsely chopped sweet mixed pickles, and heat to serving temperature.

Cook 8 oz. (4 c.) fine egg noodles in hot deep fat (350 deg. F.) 5 to 8 min., or until lightly browned and crisp; drain on absorbent paper and sprinkle with salt. Serve tuna over noodles to 4 to 6 people.

Broiled Tuna Spaghetti Au Gratin

Add 2 tbsp. salt to 4 to 6 qts. rapidly boiling water. Gradually add 1 lb. spaghetti so water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally until tender. Drain in colander.

Simmer 1 2-3 c. (large can) undiluted evaporated milk, ½ tsp. salt, 2 tsp. dry mustard in saucepan over medium heat to just below boiling (about 2 min.). Add 2 c. (about 8 oz.) grated process American cheese; stir over medium heat until cheese melts, about 1 min. longer.

Mix cheese sauce with 2 (7-oz.) cans solid-pack tuna, drained, 1 c. sliced mushrooms, one-third c. sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives. Mix well.

Arrange spaghetti, 6 to 8 broccoli spears, cooked, and wedges of 1 medium-sized tomato, in 3-qt. baking dish. Top with cheese-tuna mixture. Sprinkle with ¼ c. grated parmesan cheese. Broil 5 to 7 in. from source of heat for 10 to 12 min. or until lightly browned. Serves 6 to 8.

H. O. Caldwells Return Home After Globe-Circling Trip

(Editor's Note: We enjoyed reading this story of the H. O. Caldwells' globe-circling journey. We thought you would enjoy it, too.)

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Caldwell, of near Lockbourne, have returned home after a pleasure trip around the world, by air They boarded their magic carpet on Januay 4 and after visiting London, Paris, and Rome spent some time in Athens, Greece.

Here they visited the ruins of ncient Greece such as the Temple of Olympian Zeus, and the Acropolis and the Parthenon, known as the Temple of Athena, built in 500 B. C. — an engineering marvel. In ancient Corinth they viewed the ruins of the largest commercial city of the era.

In Cairo they shopped in the colorful bazaars, visited many Mohammedan mosques, palaces and inspected the fabuloulous treasure recovered from the tomb of King Tut Ankh Amen, visited the Coptic Church, oldest church in Egypt where the Holy Family lived in its catacombs for three months during their flight to Egypt. While on the desert at the pyramids they experienced a real wind and sand storm.

They spent one week in India, visiting Bombay, Old and New Delhi, Agra, the site of the beautiful Taj Mahal and Calcutta. They found India very different and exciting. They were fortunate in being in Delhi during the grand festivities commemorating India's ten years of independence called "Republic Day". The celebration lasted one week and a spirit of carnival prevailed.

On January 23, 24 and 25, a four-hour parade was presented. At night, all the government buildings were brilliantly outlined in colored lights, as well as the office buildings, shopping centers and homes. The streets and roads were crowded with pedestrians and vehicles of every description; and sacred cows lying in the streets, or wandering aimlessly about.

* * *

IN CALCUTTA, former capital of India and located on the Ganges River, they found the burning ghats of interest where the poorer classes were cremated if they had the $4.00 to pay for the fuel wood.

In Bangkok, Siam, or Thailand, as it is now known, famous for the Thai silks, vivid memories of "The King and I" were brought back when they entered the royal palace grounds and stood on the pavilion where Anna was first greeted by the king with a tea and reception. There are descendents of her son still living in Bangkok.

Among other interesting things seen was the Temple of the Emerald Buddha, Golden Cheddi and life on the many canals and river surrounding the city.

Hong Kong was a busy, commercial city, very modern with its many skyscrapers, new 5-minute ferry transportation system from Kowloon to Hong Kong, and a shopper's paradise.

Tokyo, too, was a bustling place, more like New York, with new buildings being erected everywhere. To conserve valuable land space they are going underground, with shopping centers in underground arcades, and under the new expressway being built through the center of Tokyo.

They visited the Toshogen Shrine at Nikko, a skiing and pleasure resort. Shopping on the Ginza in the large, very modern department stores, where both western and Japanese clothing and merchandise were sold proved quite a contrast from the small bazaars.

The Caldwells returned home via San Francisco after several days in Honolulu. In all they visited 21 cities, in 13 countries on 4 continents, flying 24,879 miles.

Weeky Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter weather was making things tough on the housewife and her food budget this week.

In many sections heavy snow and its aftermath made it difficult for her to drive or walk to the grocery. And getting the food to the store was a problem for railroad men and truckers. The pipeline brining food from the farm to market was slowed all along the way.

Distribution problems came atop the Florida freezes, which sharply curtailed the winter crop of vegetables, bringing about higher prices for those available. Unseasonably cold weather has even worked against the housewife in the fish market, which is a problem with the Lenten season starting.

Market men said the fish stay farther offshore in the colder weather and fishermen don't like to go as far offshore. This generally means smaller catches and higher prices for fresh fish.

Steaks, which are supposed to give you more energy in cold weather, will be the No. 1 attraction in many stores while others will be offering round and rib roasts at bargain prices.

Others, taking notice of Lent, have specials on cod, halibut and swordfish steaks, scallops, flounder and various fillets. Stocks of frozen fish products are 3 per cent below a year ago, but still considered ample to meet current needs. The fresh catch is expected to pick up seasonably next month.

Vegetable prices, already pushed up by the poor growing weather, went up another notch because of slower distribution.

Fresh fruit showed the same over-all picture.

Harris and Patsy Ellwood were wed Jan. 8. The marriage was annulled subsequently. Patsy was made a ward of the state and placed in a foster home. Harris was sentenced to six months in jail for conspiring to falsify her age on the marriage license, which said she was 18.

Half-Gallon Sales Urged on Dairies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department, concerned as it is with dairy surpluses, wishes more milk dealers would emphasize sale of fluid milk in half-gallon containers.

A survey has shown that the consumption of whole milk is increasing at a faster rate in regions where milk purchases have shown the greatest shift from quart to half - gallon containers. Most dairies offer considerable savings on half-gallons.

Here Are Tips to Make Some Odd Jobs Easier

Keeping the cruet clean is a simple chore, but it is important to do it often.

Regular washings with warm water and a mild detergent, shaken into a froth, and rinsing it several times with clear water will keep it in good condition. Before it is allowed to dry out completely, two teaspoons of olive oil should be swished around inside the cruet to coat the surface and to remove any drops of water or the after-taste of the detergent. To drain out properly, it should be turned upside down on a rack.

Olive oil is about the best thing going to keep small paint brushes clean and pliable between paint jobs. After washing the brushes clean in turpentine, dip them quickly in a small amount of olive oil and squeeze out the excess. Before the next painting, rinse brushes in hot water to remove oil and dry thoroughly.

Even the best housekeepers often forget the bookcase and its contents. Actually, books should be removed from the shelves and everything cleaned at least once every six months.

* * *

GIVE THE SHELVES a good washing and let them dry thoroughly before replacing the books. Otherwise, the dampness will cover the books with mildew.

If this happens, go over the books, page by page, and wipe off each mildew spot with a clean dry cloth or tissue. Air the opened book in a dry, sunny spot.

Very bad mildewed spots should be treated with French chalk.

Give each spot a good sprinkling. Close the books carefully, wiping the page edges away from the binding to keep the dust out of the backbone space.

Store books carefully, especially if they have fine bindings. Be careful not to overcrowd them. Such books are best kept between book ends.

Washington's Cherry Tree Story a Myth

By BARBARA

Girls it is time to get your baking dishes and red tart cherries out. Saturday is Washington's birthday! I have been wondering why we always associate cherry pie with Washington's birthday. I did a little research and this is what I found.

The story of George Washington chopping down the cherry tree with a hatchet is just a legend. It first appeared in a book written by Mason Locke Weems, published in 1800. His book "The Life and Memorable Actions of George Washington" was the second best seller of its day. Little is known about the boyhood of George Washington.

If you plan on making a cherry pie here is a little household hint. In rolling your pie dough on wax paper, dampen the table first before you place your wax paper on it. By damping the table you will keep your wax paper from sliding and make your dough easier to roll.

Umbrellas and pears have inspired the Paris hats for this spring. In the umbrella line the big-brimmed cartwheels form a decorative frame for the face. They are built on bandeaux, so that the brim will not hide the wearer's features.

There are many versions of the beret, done in straw or printed silk fabric, usually worn back on the head. Veils are in favor with many of the smaller hats, while others employ long streamers or cut-out crowns which show the hair.

A few helpful hints:

Run a line of basting stitches through sweater necks and cuffs to prevent them from stretching when they are laundered.

KEEP A BOTTLE of lotion handy in the kitchen. Use it on hands after you've done dishes or other hard-on-hands chore.

Keep Hands Looking Lovely By Keeping Lotion Handy

By JEANNE D'ARCY
King Features Syndicate

Playing bridge, you glance down at your hands—they're rough, red, drealful-looking!

You shake hands with your well-manicured hostess and suddenly discover disconcertingly that your own polish is chipped and in need of repair!

An attractive man leans over to light your cigarette and you're embarrassingly conscious that your hands appear anything but pretty!

Such things happen every day, for hands are always on display. Almost everything we do, calls attention to their appearance.

Hands need plenty of TLC—tender, loving, care. They take a beating and often show it.

Daily they should be slathered with lotion or cream. It will repair damage and, more important, prevent it.

Lotion should be stocked all through the house. Keep one bottle in the bathroom, one in the kitchen. Use them every time you've had your hands in water. Place a third bottle on your night table. Dip into it the last thing before going to bed, first thing on getting up in the morning. Such lotioning will pay off in smooth, pretty skin.

Hand care should also include a weekly manicure. At least every seven days, those nails must be stripped clean of polish and given a new coating of same.

For a job that will last an entire week without chipping, give nails a base coat, two coats of polish and a sealer coat. Bring the polish down and under the tip of the nail. It's a trick that works well.

a WITCH DOCTOR is cheaper!

But the few extra dollars that you pay for reliable modern prescriptions save you time and money in the long run. Why? Because today rapid recoveries can often be made with just a single prescription. Burdensome expenses involved in long sickness are eliminated. As recently as ten years ago, your doctor had to rely upon medicines that were slow-acting and uncertain. True, your prescription cost less then, but today, because of modern research, you get far greater results for your medicine-dollar.

A survey has shown that the consumption of whole milk is increasing at a faster rate in regions where milk purchases have shown the greatest shift from quart to half-gallon containers. Most dairies offer considerable savings on half-gallons.

KEEP A BOTTLE of lotion handy in the kitchen. Use it on hands after you've done dishes or other hard-on-hands chore.

Keep Hands Looking Lovely By Keeping Lotion Handy

By JEANNE D'ARCY
King Features Syndicate

Playing bridge, you glance down at your hands—they're rough, red, drealful-looking!

You shake hands with your well-manicured hostess and suddenly discover disconcertingly that your own polish is chipped and in need of repair!

An attractive man leans over to light your cigarette and you're embarrassingly conscious that your hands appear anything but pretty!

Such things happen every day, for hands are always on display. Almost everything we do, calls attention to their appearance.

Hands need plenty of TLC—tender, loving, care. They take a beating and often show it.

Daily they should be slathered with lotion or cream. It will repair damage and, more important, prevent it.

Lotion should be stocked all through the house. Keep one bottle in the bathroom, one in the kitchen. Use them every time you've had your hands in water. Place a third bottle on your night table. Dip into it the last thing before going to bed, first thing on getting up in the morning. Such lotioning will pay off in smooth, pretty skin.

Hand care should also include a weekly manicure. At least every seven days, those nails must be stripped clean of polish and given a new coating of same.

For a job that will last an entire week without chipping, give nails a base coat, two coats of polish and a sealer coat. Bring the polish down and under the tip of the nail. It's a trick that works well.

Keeping the cruet clean is a simple chore, but it is important to do it often.

Regular washings with warm water and a mild detergent, shaken into a froth, and rinsing it several times with clear water will keep it in good condition. Before it is allowed to dry out completely, two teaspoons of olive oil should be swished around inside the cruet to coat the surface and to remove any drops of water or the after-taste of the detergent. To drain out properly, it should be turned upside down on a rack.

Olive oil is about the best thing going to keep small paint brushes clean and pliable between paint jobs. After washing the brushes clean in turpentine, dip them quickly in a small amount of olive oil and squeeze out the excess. Before the next painting, rinse brushes in hot water to remove oil and dry thoroughly.

Even the best housekeepers often forget the bookcase and its contents. Actually, books should be removed from the shelves and everything cleaned at least once every six months.

* * *

GIVE THE SHELVES a good washing and let them dry thoroughly before replacing the books. Otherwise, the dampness will cover the books with mildew.

If this happens, go over the books, page by page, and wipe off each mildew spot with a clean dry cloth or tissue. Air the opened book in a dry, sunny spot.

Very bad mildewed spots should be treated with French chalk.

Store books carefully, especially if they have fine bindings. Be careful not to overcrowd them. Such books are best kept between book ends.

a WITCH DOCTOR is cheaper!

But the few extra dollars that you pay for reliable modern prescriptions save you time and money in the long run. Why? Because today rapid recoveries can often be made with just a single prescription. Burdensome expenses involved in long sickness are eliminated. As recently as ten years ago, your doctor had to rely upon medicines that were slow-acting and uncertain. True, your prescription cost less then, but today, because of modern research, you get far greater results for your medicine-dollar.

Costly Food Plagues Most Budgets Today

Grocery Industry Tries To Find Ways To Lower Price Tags

Editor's Note: Following is another in a series of articles in which the Associated Press business news analyst outlines what business leaders are doing to cut costs during the current recession.

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Costly food today plagues most folk trying to hold the family budget within bounds. The cost of growing, processing, distributing and merchandizing food worries the industry. It is seeking new means of holding costs within bounds.

Much has been done. The National Assn. of Food Chains says increased warehouse efficiency has cut these costs 76 per cent in 10 years, and store operating efficiency has cut receiving and storage costs 50 per cent. At a recent national meeting food chain executives swapped experiences in slicing pennies here and there off distribution costs.

Food industry leaders insist that despite the higher food prices that irk the consumer, the rising costs—largely of late in transportation and labor—trimmed the net return on the dollar of food sales last year.

Like many other industries, food processors and merchandizers alike have tried cutting overhead by such devices as mergers and cooperative buying. Some of the other things they're trying:

Bakeries are going in for more automation — such as conveyor belts that take pans in and out of ovens, in and out of coolers, carry the loaves to slicing and wrapping machines and finally to the shipping platforms.

Meat packers are consolidating operations and looking for cheaper distribution. They seek savings through new antibiotic and even nuclear processing experiments for preserving meat and through chemicals that tenderize less choice cuts, thus making more of the animal attractive to the shopper.

The Produce Packaging Assn. says that now supermarkets sell 80 per cent of fresh fruits and vegetables unpackaged. It thinks a trend toward packaging will put half of the produce under wraps within two years. This is expected to cut the cost of retail handling by one seventh.

The Folding Paper Box Assn. foresees more packaging of meats and produce at point of production, aimed in insuring quality, reducing spoilage and saving cost of packaging operations at the store. The trend toward multi-packs also has its economy angle as well as the convenience one.

The cost of packaging itself is also being tackled.

Packaging costs average 20 per cent of sales of grocery manufacturers, according to Donald Deskey, industrial designer. The food processors look to the designers for a double barreled attack on the profit squeeze problem. To cut packaging costs they are calling for more efficient materials, processes and techniques—accenting the competitive battle between the makers of boxes, jars, squeeze bottles and tubes.

The growth of self service in supermarkets—aimed at cutting retail clerk costs, among other things—has been a big booster for the packaging industry.

Sohio Chief Doubts Severity of Recession

CINCINNATI (AP) — Charles E. Spahr, Cleveland, president of the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio says the current recession will not be as severe nor last as long as the 1929 depression.

He gave these reasons for his opinion: There is an impelling need for more construction. The increasing population will "simply create a need for more goods and services."

Bob Steele -- Top Veteran In Gallops Across Screen

Editor's Note: Following is another in a series tracing the history of the ever-popular western movie.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's a safe bet that Bob Steele has led and been chased by more posses than any other Westerner ever.

Steele represents the middle period of the American Western movie, when Hollywood ground out dozens of low-budget horse operas yearly to satisfy the public's craving for outdoor adventure. He started in films when he was 14, starred in 180 Westerns, has appeared in dozens of others.

Now, still trim and handsome at 51, he is enjoying new activity, thanks to TV. The old Bob Steele Westerns have been played and replayed on the home screens, creating a new generation of fans for him. And he's playing roles in the new crop of adult Westerns, the latest being as a killer in "The Californians."

"Oh, we really turned them out in the early talkies, we could grind out a feature in six to eight days for $18,000 to $20,000. Once I did two five-reel features in five days! The star would get $3,000 to $5,000, which wasn't bad pay considering the times."

He admitted the quality of the films was not of the best.

"We didn't have time to be subtle," he observed. "We were working too fast; 80 per cent of the pictures were chases or some form of action. The plots were variations of the same themes—the settlers vs. the cattlemen, sheep owners vs. cattlemen, water rights, gold, cattle rustlers, desperadoes, etc."

Working and reworking the same lode, the program Western prospered in the silent and talkie period. Besides Bob Steele, favorites included Tom Mix, Buck Jones, Ken Maynard, Hoot Gibson, Tim McCoy, Johnny Mack Brown, William Boyd, Tom Tyler, George O'Brien, Tim Holt, Charles Starrett.

Music may have contributed to the death of the program Western. Certainly TV was a contributing factor. The channels were flooded with old Westerns, and Hopalong Cassidy became a national hero.

When Westerns came back on TV with a bang, he decided to join 'em.

'Stamina' Labeled Top Need For Worker in Washington

Editor's Note: Jane Eads, who has covered Washington from the woman's angle for 20 years, is swapping her typewriter for retirement in Florida. Her final column will appear Friday.

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — I've found that anyone coming to Washington should pack a survival kit. Here are some of the things you'll need:

Stamina. Top officials, the lawmakers, even parttime consultant, put in longer hours for Uncle Sam than for any boss back home.

More grueling is the social schedule which most, for professional and protocol reasons, are obliged to accept. There's little time for leisure, cozy hours with the family or the simple pleasures and hobbies.

Wives will need a large measure of this, plus patience. Besides finding a home, getting the children in school and keeping pace with their husband's indeterminate hours and temper, their social obligations are even more demanding than the men's.

A castiron stomach. A willingness to experiment with and an ability to assimilate the exotic, internationally flavored and varied fare offered on Washington buffet and dinner tables. A capacity to eat one's way through official and social luncheons, teas, dinners and late suppers — sometimes two or three of them in one day.

A won't as strong as a will. In this town where elbow bending, along with handshakingg is a principal form of muscle flexing and the drinking quota per capita highest of any city in the world—once estimated slightly over four gallons per person per annum—one must watch his cocktail olives and seltzer.

A sense of humor, plus a place to bury a hatchet. The fightin' and feudin' among politicians, the differences among diplomats, and the frantic competition among hostesses should be laid aside before entering the house of gaiety.

A flair for making small talk. The pundits, even the politicos, have learned that the party front is no place to get a sentence finished!

A good memory. A memory for faces, names, rank, background, politics, preferences and involvements of the people you're likely to meet in public life, and the lightning ability to jigsaw them together.

If you don't know faces and names, do like the politicians do, they're not taking chances with a possible vote—beam warmly, nod knowingly at everybody. Or like our friend: "I'm Estes Kefauver," the senator from Tennessee, reach for the hand and shake lustily.

Mental Hearing Set

CHARDON (AP)—A charge that the former Geauga County welfare director, James D. Lisle, is mentally incompetent will be heard today by Probate Court Judge Robert H. Ford.

New Women's Shoes Deplored by Surgeon

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Shoes now back in vogue will cause "grotesque effects on women's feet," says the president of the American College of Foot Surgeons.

Dr. N. J. Pickett, Norfolk, Neb., said the payments made by style-conscious women to foot doctors in the next few years "will come close to equaling the national debt if they continue to wear these new designs with pointed toes and ridiculous spike heels."

'Stamina' Labeled Top Need For Worker in Washington

Editor's Note: Jane Eads, who has covered Washington from the woman's angle for 20 years, is swapping her typewriter for retirement in Florida. Her final column will appear Friday.

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — I've found that anyone coming to Washington should pack a survival kit. Here are some of the things you'll need:

Stamina. Top officials, the lawmakers, even parttime consultant, put in longer hours for Uncle Sam than for any boss back home.

More grueling is the social schedule which most, for professional and protocol reasons, are obliged to accept. There's little time for leisure, cozy hours with the family or the simple pleasures and hobbies.

Wives will need a large measure of this, plus patience. Besides finding a home, getting the children in school and keeping pace with their husband's indeterminate hours and temper, their social obligations are even more demanding than the men's.

A castiron stomach. A willingness to experiment with and an ability to assimilate the exotic, internationally flavored and varied fare offered on Washington buffet and dinner tables. A capacity to eat one's way through official and social luncheons, teas, dinners and late suppers — sometimes two or three of them in one day.

A won't as strong as a will. In this town where elbow bending, along with handshakingg is a principal form of muscle flexing and the drinking quota per capita highest of any city in the world—once estimated slightly over four gallons per person per annum—one must watch his cocktail olives and seltzer.

A sense of humor, plus a place to bury a hatchet. The fightin' and feudin' among politicians, the differences among diplomats, and the frantic competition among hostesses should be laid aside before entering the house of gaiety.

A flair for making small talk. The pundits, even the politicos, have learned that the party front is no place to get a sentence finished!

A good memory. A memory for faces, names, rank, background, politics, preferences and involvements of the people you're likely to meet in public life, and the lightning ability to jigsaw them together.

If you don't know faces and names, do like the politicians do, they're not taking chances with a possible vote—beam warmly, nod knowingly at everybody. Or like our friend: "I'm Estes Kefauver," the senator from Tennessee, reach for the hand and shake lustily.

Mental Hearing Set

CHARDON (AP)—A charge that the former Geauga County welfare director, James D. Lisle, is mentally incompetent will be heard today by Probate Court Judge Robert H. Ford.

The Art of Growing Old

Aged Have an Obligation To Youth, Cleric Declares

Editor's Note: Following is another in a series in which leading elder citizens of America discuss the problems and riches of their advanced years.

By THE VERY REV. RAIMUNDO DE OVIES

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Eleven years ago I retired, voluntarily, as dean of the Cathedral of St. Philip in Atlanta, Ga. I was in good health, acceptable to my parish, and loving my work most heartily.

However, the work had grown too much for a man of 70.

I had published three successful books and had done a column daily on the editorial page of the Atlanta Journal for a number of years and a few magazine articles. My association with the Atlanta Journal was terminated shortly after my retirement.

What to do now? Literary work? That was not enough after a very active career in the church.

I concentrated on what had been a hobby, that of assisting in sociological projects. This assuaged a restless energy for a while; but it was sporadic, without official relationship with any of the organizations involved; so I undertook a column on the editorial page of the Metropolitan Herald of Atlanta, a weekly. This paper has been publishing my series "Dear Drunks" and will put it into book form when completed.

I was still restless, wanting a closer relationship with people, personally, to which I had been accustomed for 50 years; my particular, and best-loved, labors being in the field of pastoral counseling. I had always had a tremendous interest in people, but as individuals. To this I owe my being named the first member of the staff of the Georgian Clinic, for alcoholics, set up by the State of Georgia, which had acquired the beautiful 41-acre Candler estate and the huge mansion on the property.

Jan. 8, 1957, was my 80th birthday, and while counseling with the last of a group of alcoholics, I suffered a coronary occlusion and was rushed to a hospital where I remained only two weeks and returned to work. The most annoying aspect of this recovery is that other members of the staff now constantly caution me to "take it easy," as though I were an old man!

I do not feel old, at any time. "Experienced" would be the more accurate word; because one must live to learn; or to be able to modify one's "beliefs" appropriately to new evidence and knowledge. If we aged folk cannot do so, it is not surprising when youth takes over in our stead.

When the aged meet their obligations to youth they never grow "old," even to young people. They remain "young," since "old" is a comparative term, after all.

Personally, I have never feared growing old. It seems more of a triumphant achievement. Obeying hygienic principles is likely to curtail or shorten physical discomforts and an adequate philosophy of life can minimize anxiety in most situations and instances.

In my own case, the greatest compensation for and comfort about growing old is being made to feel that I am needed, as much now as at any other period of life; for this is a greater satisfaction than awards, recognition, reputation or power.

SUSPENDED IN LITTLE ROCK — Minnie Jean Brown and her mother enter a meeting of the Little Rock, Ark., School board, where the girl was suspended from the integrated high school for the remainder of the semester. She had been suspended once for throwing a bowl of chili at two white boys in the cafeteria, and this time for calling a white girl student "white trash." Superintendent Virgil Blossom, who recommended the suspension action, can be seen at left, holding the door. (International Soundphoto)

Ohio Supreme Court Hears Arguments on 'Blue Laws'

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio's "Blue Laws" against operation of various businesses on Sunday were termed discriminatory and unconstitutional during arguments Tuesday before the state supreme court.

Counsel for a Cincinnati delicatessen operator, convicted of Sundays sales, asked the high court to reverse lower courts in the first test in nearly half a century.

Issues in the case were similar to those of Cleveland and Hamilton merchants appealing "Blue Law" convictions at the same time. The Supreme Court took the cases under study without indicating when it would rule.

Appellants were William Kidd, operator of a delicatessen in Cincinnati; Henry Leff, operator of super stores, handling general merchandise, Cleveland, and Coleman Ullner of Rank's Bargain City, dealing in clothing, hardware and other items in Hamilton.

The merchants and those associated with them claim their convictions were an unreasonable interference with property rights and violated freedom of religion. Penalty for a first violation is a $25 fine. Maximum penalty for subsequent violations is a $100 fine and 30 days in jail.

Allen Brown of Cincinnati, counsel for Kidd, asserted the "overwhelming need for food is so universal that this decision (by lower courts) should be reversed . . . why convict for selling milk for babies but not for selling 3.2 beer?" he asked.

He said some drug stores with 97 per cent of their business in general merchandise, stay open on Sunday.

Lyle W. Castle, assistant Cincinnati prosecutor, said the statutes "were enacted for the protecion of the citizens of Ohio . . . that they might have one day of rest and recreation.

"Beyond any question," he continued, "the state has the right to pass Sunday regulations. It is an exercise of the police powers and is constitutional."

Castle explained that the law on Sunday beer sales is a licensing statute. "It refers to Sunday recreational activity as opposed to a regular business," he said.

The "Blue Law" statutes "impose no requirement of religion on any person," Brown added.

Suspended Pupils To Get New Schools

NEW YORK (AP)—Some 644 suspended pupils will have schools to attend within a week or 10 days.

The Board of Education looked forward today to opening four new schools for youngsters absent from classes since Feb. 7.

A major purpose is to keep the pupils out of mischief and under supervision until the board decides what to do with them. Each school will enroll about 150.

David H. Moskowitz, who directs the board's housing division, said some of the temporary schools might later be converted into regular schools for disciplinary cases.

Corn, Wheat Signup Deadline Is Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The period for farmers to sign agreements to retire corn and spring wheat land under the acreage reserve of the soil bank program is due to end Thursday.

Preliminary reports of the Agriculture Department indicate applications for participation in the program may exceed fund limitations by around 40 per cent.

Fired Employes Get Appeal Chance

COLUMBUS (AP)—Two state employes, recently removed from their jobs, will get a chance to appeal to the state Civil Service Commission at public hearings in March.

Lawrence K. Foulke, removed as manager of a state liquor store in Bucyrus, will get a hearing March 5. State Liquor Director Robert B. Krupansky said Foulke refused to accept a wholesale order from a retail permit holder Dec. 30 after being told to do so by his immediate superior.

James I. Will of Tiro, Crawford County superintendent for the Ohio Department of Highways, was removed from his job earlier this month. He is accused of selling junk for $283 and not voluntarily turning in the money.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Ohio-Midland Light and Power Company has filed with The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio an Application (in Proceeding No. 26421) for authority to modify its electric rate schedules and charges for residential, commercial and power consumers in Fairfield, Franklin, Hocking, Licking, Madison, Pickaway, Ross and Union Counties, except residential and commercial consumers within incorporated municipalities.

The effect of the proposed rate modifications will be to increase the return from the affected consumers as a class.

The Company's Application shows that the revenues yielded by the existing rates for service in the territory affected are insufficient to provide reasonable compensation for the service rendered thereunder and that the existing rates and charges are unjust and unreasonable, and contains a prayer that the Public Utilities Commisseon of Ohio find that the rates and charges specified in tre schedules now in effect are unjust, unreasonable and insufficient to yield just compensation for the service rendered thereunder in the territory affected and that the rates and charges specified in the proposed new schedules are just and reasonable, and that the Commission order that the proposed new schedules be substituted for the present schedules in the territory affected.

Copies of the Application and schedules proposed to be filed in substitution for the present schedules identified above may be examined at the office of The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio in Columbus, Ohio, and at the office of Ohio-Midland Light and Power Company, Canal Winchester, Ohio.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Ohio-Midland Light and Power Company has filed with The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio an Application (in Proceeding No. 26421) for authority to modify its electric rate schedules and charges for residential, commercial and power consumers in Fairfield, Franklin, Hocking, Licking, Madison, Pickaway, Ross and Union Counties, except residential and commercial consumers within incorporated municipalities.

The effect of the proposed rate modifications will be to increase the return from the affected consumers as a class.

The Company's Application shows that the revenues yielded by the existing rates for service in the territory affected are insufficient to provide reasonable compensation for the service rendered thereunder and that the existing rates and charges are unjust and unreasonable, and contains a prayer that the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio find that the rates and charges specified in tre schedules now in effect are unjust, unreasonable and insufficient to yield just compensation for the service rendered thereunder in the territory affected and that the rates and charges specified in the proposed new schedules are just and reasonable, and that the Commission order that the proposed new schedules be substituted for the present schedules in the territory affected.

Copies of the Application and schedules proposed to be filed in substitution for the present schedules identified above may be examined at the office of The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio in Columbus, Ohio, and at the office of Ohio-Midland Light and Power Company, Canal Winchester, Ohio.

Pickaway Grange Report

SCIOTO VALLEY GRANGE

The regular meeting of Scioto Valley Grange was held recently with 40 members present. The first and second degrees were given three candidates. Chester Crist was the acting master of the degree team, coached by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Berger.

Worthy Master H. A. Bumgarner presided over the business session at which the members voted contributions to the March of Dimes and to the Heart Fund.

Home Economics Chairman Leona Berger gave an outline of the coming contest held within the Grange. The Angel Food Cake contest will be held the last meeting in March at which time the Old Cook Books will be displayed.

The next meeting on February 25 will see the third and fourth degrees conferred on candidates. This meeting will be preceded by a covered-dish supper. Supper hour is set for 6:30 p. m. Each person is to furnish his own table service.

No literary program was held due to the degree work.

Mrs. Leona Berger and her committee served a dessert course during the refreshment hour.

STAR GRANGE

Star Grange held open house recently with 92 members and guests present. Mrs. Helen Schleich, lecturer, planned the program booklets using the Ohio State Grange Program theme— "The Lead Ship of Rural Progress."

Exhibits of Juvenile work, Home Economics and Community Service accomplishments were on display.

Following the opening song "This Ole Grange" by the group, Master Lawrence Reid welcomed everyone to the meeting and read a letter of welcome from National Grange Master, Herschel D. Newton.

The Bible was opened by the Assistant Steward and Lady Assistant Steward, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Furniss, the invocation was given by the chaplain, Mrs. Herman Porter, followed with the flag salute and singing the National Anthem. Each of the officers answered the roll call with a short resume of the duties pertaining to his office.

Mrs. Joe Roberts read an essay on "The Grange". A vocal trio composed of Connie, Sue and Pamela Stoer sang two selections, "Tammy" and "Sugar Time." Following a piano solo by Miss Melanie Dudleson, Mrs. C. E. Dick and Mrs. Lyle Davis presented a skit, "Mr. Stepladder and Mrs. Rocking Chair Talk Safety."

There was the panel discussion by the members of the Westfall School District Board of Education. Raymond Reiterman, president of the board, introduced the other members—Dr. Paul Fenstermaker, Everett Grabill and Hoyt Martin. H. N. Stevenson was unable to attend. Some interesting facts were brought out about the district.

Filter Tip Cigarette Ads Claimed 'Deceiving' Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee report claims that the cigarette manufacturers have deceived the American public through their advertising of filter-tip cigarettes.

Although the big industry has denied health hazards from smoking, the Government Operations Committee said, it has made these charges appear true by implying filter tips remove alleged causes of cancer and heart disease.

"Actually, most filter cigarettes produce as much or more nicotine and tar as cigarettes without filters," the committee added.

The committee rapped the Federal Trade Commission for what it said was a failure to police deceptive advertising while the public became "brainwashed that filters would furnish health protection."

The committee spoke by adopting a report made by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Blatnik (D-Minn) following hearings last year. The report had not previously been made public.

The committee quoted public statements from medical experts but advanced no conclusions itself on any relationship between smoking and cancer.

The report did say the tobacco industry apparently conspired to boycott subcommittee hearings though invited to testify.

When many smokers first didn't like the taste of their filtered smokes, the report said, the manufacturers loosened the filters and put in lower grade, stronger tobacco allowing more smoke particles to get through—and still charged two to six cents more a pack.

The report said this about various brands:

Kent, made by P. Lorillard Co., introduced a "micronite filter" whose smoke produced only 1 milligram of nicotine and 9 milligrams of tar, according to consumer reports in 1953. Kent advertized that its "protection is priceless." A 1957 test showed nicotine content more than doubled and tar content almost doubled.

L&M, made by Liggett & Myers, introduced the "miracle tip" filter in 1954 with the claim of "more flavor less nicotine." In 1955 L&M tested 1.5 milligrams of nicotine and 11 milligrams of tar. By 1957 it showed an increase of nearly 70 per cent in nicotine and more than 33 per cent in tar —then announced "the miracle of the modern miracle tip."

Winston, produced by Reynolds Tobacco, in 1955 claimed "filters so effectively" tested at 3.1 milligrams of nicotine and 20 milligrams of tar. By 1957, "with an exclusive filter, snowy white and pure" the count was 3.8 milligrams of nicotine and 22 milligrams of tar.

All of the major producers followed suit, the congressmen said, but they did applaud "the candor of Philip Morris' current slogan 'No filter—no foolin'."

Cuban Civil Leaders Deplore Rebellion

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Cuban civic leaders have issued a warning that this strife-torn nation faces "destruction by a wave of violence" unless peace is restored.

A manifesto by more than 100 members of the Allied Professional Institute charged that preparations for the June presidential elections have been marked by "the most scandalous frauds in the history of Cuba."

Meanwhile, President Batista's armed forces failed to destroy a main body of Fidel Castro's rebel group in a ground-air assault in Oriente province.

The army general staff announced 16 rebels and 5 soldiers were killed before the insurgents escaped into the mountains.

Financier Raps 'Lack of Capital'

CLEVELAND (AP)—Financier Cyrus S. Eaton says that in today's recession "the lack of capital is the most serious thing we have to contend with."

Therefore, it would help if "management can talk to people in Washington who are in authority to increase the supply of money."

Helicopters Keeping Busy Helping Snowbound Hoosiers

CHICAGO (AP)—Army helicopters which rescued about 60 persons from isolated farm homes in snowbound northern Indiana this week head back into the area today for more rescue and supply missions.

To the pilots, flying copters through stiff winds and bitter cold temperatures to marooned families is "hairy at times." But it's all in a day's work.

The people, some critically ill, who have been airlifted out of a storm - ravaged area between Michigan City and Valparaiso look at it differently.

The parents of 18-month-old Annette Carson won't forget the whirlybirds or the men who fly them. One pilot is Lt. Paul Whitman of Scranton, Pa.

Whitman, 28, flew a copter to the isolated Carson house, 2½ miles southwest of Westville, in La Porte County, to rush the critically ill infant to a hospital. He is credited with probably saving her life.

Mrs. Verne Bruse, 47, said, "It was a miracle" when Whitman's copter arrived to rescue her family trapped by drifting snow at their farm home five miles southeast of Michigan City.

Seventeen persons were imprisoned in the Bruse home by 16-foot drifts. The children had been living on canned milk. Adults ate baked beans and drank coffee. When the copter arrived the food was gone and the wood supply was dwindling.

Whitman said the landings "were a bit hairy at times because the wheels sank clear out of sight and the whirling snow greatly reduced visibility."

But, he said, the gratitude of marooned families helped make up for the hazards.

"You should see the looks on their faces when we put that whirlybird down," he said. "Some of them can't believe that help has finally arrived."

Copters piloted by Whitman and Capt. Merlin H. Perry, 38, of Chicago rescued between 50 and 60 marooned persons in three days. They were ordered back into the area today.

The pilots said many farm families in the area are running low on fuel oil. Whitman said his crew flew in about 400 gallons Wednesday.

The copters being used in northern Indiana are attached to the 45th Anti-Aircraft Brigade in Arlington Heights, near Chicago. They are normally used to transport men and equipment between Nike missile sites in the Chicago-Gary-Hammond area.

Man Admits Amnesia Case Is Faked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Robert Waldron, 21, who said he pretended to be an amnesia victim because he didn't want to attract attention, was sent back to his Toronto, Canada, home Wednesday after attracting attention in two countries.

Waldron told police he did not know who he was when they picked him up in a suburban doctor's office Tuesday night. The doctor called police for aid because the man had no money and was apparently away from home.

Later, however, the man admitted his identity and said he had left home after an argument with his father. He said he feigned amnesia because he was frightened when he saw police and "didn't want to attract attention."

In the time of Edward IV in England (this was in 1461) barbers had the same privileges as surgeons and dentists. Along with giving you a shave and haircut they also had a license to pull your tooth or give you a minor operation.

General Says U.S. To Use A-Weapons

CHICAGO (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor says that the United States would use atomic tactical weapons if their use was required in a limited conflict.

The Army chief of staff says the nation should be prepared to act in cases of localized aggression that involve the security of the free world.

He said the U. S. forces would use whatever kind of weapon was required. Asked if that included nuclear weapons, he replied: "It would obviously depend on the requirements for gaining a victory."

Confederacy Whips Yankees In Band, Ballad Battles

By HUGH MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If the Civil War had been fought with bands and ballads instead of bullets and bayonets, the South would have won by a couple of octaves.

That is the impression gained from comparing "The Union," Columbia Records' new and long awaited historical album, with "The Confederacy," its highly successful predecessor of three years ago.

Musically, the Rebels got the best of it. They had "Dixie," "The Bonnie Blue Flag," "All Quiet Along the Potomac," "The Yellow Ros of Txas," "My Maryland' and the tender and touching "Lorena."

The Federals, as the new album shows, managed to battle down to the last note, thanks mainly to the genius of composer George F. Root, who must have been the George M. Cohan of his day Root rallied to the Union cause with songs like "Just Before the Battle Mother," "The Battle Cry of Freedom," "Th Vacant Chair" and th rousing march, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching."

* * *

JULIA WARD HOWE also scored a major Yankee victory by penning new lyrics for the "John Browns Body" ditty and turning it into one of the greatest war songs ever written, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Finally, the Northern side could count among its musical war trophies the bugle call "Taps," believed to have been written by Gen. Daniel Butterfield and first played at Harrison's Landing on the James River during the Seven Days Battle around Richmond.

As in "The Confederacy," Columbia has dressed up the war songs in an elegant album-book, replete with learned essays by Confederate historians Bruce Catton and Clifford Dowdey and Yankee historian Allan Nevins.

Produced by Goddard Lieberson, president of Columbia Records, the 60-page album (twice as long as its Confederate counterpart) is generously illustrated with authentic Civil War photographs from the Library of Congress and other archives.

Among them is a famous shot of Gen. U. S. Grant at his field headquarters at Cold Harbor, Va. It shows him leaning on a tree outside his tent, looking wan and dejected, as if he expected to be called any minute before some congressional committee to say whether he thought Lincoln's war budget was up to snuff.

Musically, the album is inferior to its packaging. It begins, like "The Confederacy," with a cantata of war songs by Richard Bales, music director of the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C., who also conducts the National Gallery Orchestra on the record.

The cantata is memorable chiefly for a woefully slow rendition of "Tenting Tonight" by the choir of Washington's Lutheran Church of the Reformation. Since the accent was on authenticity, this is no doubt how the song was sung in those days. If so, it probably explains why Gen. George McClellan took so long getting his Army of the Potomac into action. George had to wait until the boys slogged through a couple of choruses of "Tenting Tonight."

Mid-way in the album, craggy-faced Raymond Massey recites Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, the bit that made him famous on Broadway and in Hollywood. But instead of the celebrated perfect tribute of silence at the end, his speech gets the TV spectacular treatment. An Alleluia chorus comes in with a strong "Glory, Glory, etc.," and Massey goes marching on, hand in hand with Lieberson, into the Union twilight.

THE UNION album is at its best when the brass bands are belting a martial air, but unlike "The Confederacy," it drags dismally when it attempts the sentimental or the profound.

This time, however, Columbia doesn't have to root around for another "Yellow Rose of Texas" to revive into a pop tune. Elvis Presley beat them to it with his "Love Me Tender" version of the old Union ballad "Aura Lee."

MARRIED IN SURPRISE CEREMONY—British actor Michael Wilding, 45, and Mrs. Susan Nell, 42, a London divorcee and interior decorator, were married in a surprise ceremony at Las Vegas, Nev. They have known each other for 14 years, but have been going together only for the past three months. Wilding was formerly wed to actress Elizabeth Taylor.

Man Is Shot In Challenge Of Policeman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Clement W. Burnsworth, 37, who, police say, threatened to "whip any cop that comes in my house" was shot in the left shoulder by a Columbus patrolman Wednesday night.

His brother Wilbur, 25, was subdued after he lunged at the officer who fired the shot, Ptl. Charles Beeler, the brothers are being held in city prison for investigation of assault to kill.

Police said Beeler and Ptl. Patrick McSweeney were called to the Burnsworth home by the wounded man's wife, who asserted he had thrown a butcher knife at her, apparently during an argument over the younger brother living with them.

The patrolmen said Clement Burnsworth greeted them with "I'll whip any cop that comes in my house," then advanced on them with a butcher knife. When it was apparent Burnsworth would not stop, despite warnings, Beeler said, he drew his revolver and fired.

Youthful Rocket Enthusiasts Showed Potential Dangers

DAYTON (AP) — Two youthful rocket enthusiasts received a demonstration on the dangers of homemade rockets Wednesday at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

The two 16-year-old boys, Bart Saxbe, son of Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, and Don Juan Hunt, son of Fire Capt. Marion W. Hunt of Wright Patterson's crash department, watched a laboratory firing of a rocket engine and received classroom lectures by top Air Force scientists.

Col. Harry F. Bunze, asst. chief of the propulsion laboratory at the Wright Air Development Center got the idea for the demonstration after receiving letters requesting rocket data from all over the country.

Col. Bunze said many of the letters indicated the would-be rocket builders were considering using propellents that would be extremely dangerous.

Col. Bunze said his staff picked Saxbe and Hunt from among recent letter writers and invited them to the air base for a rocket demonstration Col. Bunze said he hoped the demonstration would serve as a warning to other youthful adventurers not to fool with dangerous rocket fuels.

Saxbe and Hunt have successfully fired one homemade rocket and were building another when the invitation came from the Air Force.

What effect did the demonstration have? They are scrapping plans for the second rocket and plan to confine their rocket experiments to reading text books, Col. Bunze said.

Van Wert Clinic Bids Thrown Out

VAN WERT (AP) — Bids will be opened March 20 for construction of the Van Wert County hospital.

Bids opened Jan. 28 for the project were thrown out Wednesday after it appeared errors were made in published legal notices advertising them.

In the January opening, low bidder on the general construction contract was Wood Construction Co. of Bellefontaine. The bid was $1,025,800. Total cost of the new hospital will be $2 million.

INDICTED AS PLOTTER—Exiled former president of Cuba, Carlos Prio Socarras reads an International News Service story in his attorney's office in Miami, Fla., which disclosed that Prio and eight others face indictment in New York as conspiring to finance and "take part in military expeditions" against Cuba. (International)

Heating Oil Stocks Still Holding High

NEW YORK (AP) — Icy blasts and subfreezing gales have made a king-size dent in the nation's stocks of heating oil. But petroleum executives say there's still too much of the stuff on hand.

When the cold wave hit the country earlier this month, stocks of distillate oil — the kind used for heating homes—totaled 117 million barrels. It's expected that stocks of home heating oil will decline by more than 10 million barrels—420 million gallons—each week the cold wave lasts.

Confederacy Whips Yankees In Band, Ballad Battles

By HUGH MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If the Civil War had been fought with bands and ballads instead of bullets and bayonets, the South would have won by a couple of octaves.

That is the impression gained from comparing "The Union," Columbia Records' new and long awaited historical album, with "The Confederacy," its highly successful predecessor of three years ago.

Musically, the Rebels got the best of it. They had "Dixie," "The Bonnie Blue Flag," "All Quiet Along the Potomac," "The Yellow Ros of Txas," "My Maryland' and the tender and touching "Lorena."

The Federals, as the new album shows, managed to battle down to the last note, thanks mainly to the genius of composer George F. Root, who must have been the George M. Cohan of his day Root rallied to the Union cause with songs like "Just Before the Battle Mother," "The Battle Cry of Freedom," "Th Vacant Chair" and th rousing march, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching."

• • •

JULIA WARD HOWE also scored a major Yankee victory by penning new lyrics for the "John Browns Body" ditty and turning it into one of the greatest war songs ever written, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Finally, the Northern side could count among its musical war trophies the bugle call "Taps," believed to have been written by Gen. Daniel Butterfield and first played at Harrison's Landing on the James River during the Seven Days Battle around Richmond.

As in "The Confederacy," Columbia has dressed up the war songs in an elegant album-book, replete with learned essays by Confederate historians Bruce Catton and Clifford Dowdey and Yankee historian Allan Nevins.

Produced by Goddard Lieberson, president of Columbia Records, the 60-page album (twice as long as its Confederate counterpart) is generously illustrated with authentic Civil War photographs from the Library of Congress and other archives.

Among them is a famous shot of Gen. U. S. Grant at his field headquarters at Cold Harbor, Va. It shows him leaning on a tree outside his tent, looking wan and dejected, as if he expected to be called any minute before some congressional committee to say whether he thought Lincoln's war budget was up to snuff.

Musically, the album is inferior to its packaging. It begins, like "The Confederacy," with a cantata of war songs by Richard Bales, music director of the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C., who also conducts the National Gallery Orchestra on the record.

The cantata is memorable chiefly for a woefully slow rendition of "Tenting Tonight" by the choir of Washington's Lutheran Church of the Reformation. Since the accent was on authenticity, this is no doubt how the song was sung in those days. If so, it probably explains why Gen. George McClellan took so long getting his Army of the Potomac into action. George had to wait until the boys slogged through a couple of choruses of "Tenting Tonight."

Mid-way in the album, craggy-faced Raymond Massey recites Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, the bit that made him famous on Broadway and in Hollywood. But instead of the celebrated perfect tribute of silence at the end, his speech gets the TV spectacular treatment. An Alleluia chorus comes in with a strong "Glory, Glory, etc.," and Massey goes marching on, hand in hand with Lieberson, into the Union twilight.

Here's how man has dug, drilled and delved ever deeper into the innards of this mysterious old globe of ours.

Space Mystery? What's Under Our Feet?

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

Chicago—While almost everyone is thinking about outer space, there are serious scientists who believe that we ought to be more concerned with what lies right under our feet before we give all thought to flitting about among the planets.

A little-known experiment they regard as important as the launching of a satellite is being planned by representatives of the Navy department, U. S. scientists, and practical oilmen to dig the deepest hole ever dug and discover, if possible, what the "nuclear core" of the earth is like.

This was revealed here at a national gathering of petroleum experts, who point out that man literally has not yet scratched the surface of his own planet.

He has gone about 10 miles high and sent objects several hundred miles up, considering Russia's sputniks and our own rockets, but never has managed to go deeper than about two and a half miles or to penetrate farther than about four and a half miles with his deepest hole.

Taking part in the meeting here was John W. Mecom, Houston, Tex., oilman who owns with others in Louisiana the deepest oil well in the world—22,570 feet. The scientists would like to bore down at least 30,000 feet in a government project which they contend would cost a fraction of the earth satellite's outlays.

* * *

THE INITIAL plan was to do the drilling on Eniwetok atoll in the Pacific, but now it is being shifted to the Bahamas, where Mecom's deep drilling equipment would be closer at hand.

The scientists and oilmen figure that the biggest problem in digging a 30,000-foot hole will be in refrigeration at the deeper levels to prevent drills and pipes from disintegrating in the intense heat encountered at great depths.

What is the source of that heat? This is just one of the mysteries the scientists think ought to be solved before man gets all wrapped up in outer space problems. Since radiation occurs in some quantities among almost all rocks, they think that huge natural atomic furnaces may lie at our feet waiting to be tapped.

The deepest spot known so far on the earth is either in Mindinao Deep of 35,400 feet, off the Philippines, or the sounding of 5,814 fathoms made in 1954 by a research ship about 180 miles south of Tongatabu island in the South Pacific.

Dr. Maurice Ewing, Columbia university physicist, wants to drill a 2,000-foot-deep hole beyond one of these great ocean depths. It represents a huge task, considering that two French naval officers who in a diving bell went only 13,388 feet below the surface of the Atlantic ocean in 1954 and are believed to hold the all-time depth record.

Man's other efforts to get under the skin of his own earth seem rather puny in comparison with its 7,900-mile diameter at the poles and 7,926.6 miles at the equator. The record for descent into a natural cave is believed to be held by a team of 17 Italians who in August, 1954, probed 2,070 feet into the Preta Abyss.

The Crown mine in Johannesburg, Africa, is 9,000 feet deep, and the copper mine at Butte, Mon., is narly a mile deep. An iron mine at Hannover in the Ruhr valley, West Germany, is 4,593 feet deep.

Most of what man can guess about what it is like down there in the bowels of the earth has been deduced from studies of earthquake waves and the earth's own "tides," and not much more is known than Lord Kelvin figured out from such studies before 1900.

IN 1951, THE Carnegie institute in Washington, D. C., announced that its surveys of this sort indicate that the earth's crust is only about 25 miles thick, and that it floats on the dense interior "like a film of ice on water."

However, considering the earth's mass of six billion trillion tons (6 plus 21 zeros), the great central core is believed to be iron that would be molten if it were not for the 22,500 tons per inch pressure at the interior.

Leading scientific thought today is that there are three thin layers at the surface—sedimentary rocks, granite perhaps 12 miles thick, diorite about 10 miles thick, and then a great dunite inner shell, with iron at the center.

The dunite is believed to be about two-thirds as stiff as steel, and the iron core twice as stiff. But then, nobody knows for sure.

Fairfield County Road Bids Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways will open bids March 4 for building a 3.3-mile stretch of four-lane highway in Fairfield County northeast of Lancaster.

The project will be a relocation of U. S. 33, beginning two miles northeast of Lancaster and ending about seven miles from the Franklin County line.

Moscow Paper Decries 'Junk' at Carnival

MOSCOW (AP) — The newspaper Evening Moscow has blasted the government-publicized pre- Lenten carnival for unloading worthless junk on unsuspecting holidayers.

The carnival, a revival of the czarist "Maslennitsa" or Butter Week, consists mainly of small stalls peddling food, drink and souvenirs in Lenin Stadium.

The paper said one vendor was trying to sell souvenir plates from last summer's youth festival.

Reporter's Work in Capital Said Stimulating, Rewarding

Editor's Note: Jane Eads, who has covered Washington from the woman's angle for 20 years, is swapping her typewriter for retirement in Florida. Her final column will appear Friday.

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Most newsmen consider Washington the greatest news town in the world. Many are willing to trade a pay increase for a Washington byline and the challenge and prestige that accompany it.

The opportunity to cover the capital is not easily come by. The men and women hired by the major wire services and large metropolitan dailies to staff their Washington bureaus must be more than experienced news reporters. They must have a broad awareness of what's been going on in the world outside their home town beat, who's who in international as well as national affairs, the mechanics and many-faceted aspects of the federal government.

A colleague of mine who had been trained in politics from grass roots up—covering county seat, city hall and state legislature back home—was raring to "show 'em" how he could take Capitol Hill.

"We don't expect a story from you, my boy, for at least six weeks," said his new boss, cooling him off. "It'll take that long to get the hang of things."

When I first arrived on the scene back in 1936, covering the capital wasn't so difficult, complicated or specialized as it is today. Finding your way around was fairly simple and it was easier to gain entry to the inner councils of the big wigs and drawing rooms of socialites.

In those days, there were fewer than a dozen accredited women correspondents and little "womens news" was filed from Washington. When Eleanor Roosevelt started holding her regular White House press conferences, Washington news bureaus were forced to hire women, for men were not admitted and Mrs. Roosevelt made copy.

Only recently returned from three years abroad, I hardly knew a politico from a Riviera playboy.

"Which side do you want—House or Senate?" he asked.

"Oh-h," I exclaimed, "aren't they all together?"

Newsmen have to work hard to keep that capital byline. The difference in capital reporting from any where else is the emphasis on background. Almost every story consists of about 10 per cent of something new and 90 per cent explanation of what's happened before—just how the new developments affect what's gone before.

A capital career is a stimulating, rewarding experience. I wouldn't dream of exchanging my Washington byline for any other, except the one I'm about to switch to—a fishing line.

Steel Firms Shun Demand For Price Cut

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel makers are resisting pressure from their customers for price reductions, Iron Age, national metalworking weekly, said today.

"Some steel users are bringing pressure on the mills to cut prices," Iron Age said. "But they are not getting anywhere."

"The mills learned their lesson in the '30's," it added. "They know from that experience that price cuts failed to bring in any new business. . . ."

Some mills are warning their sales forces to expect increasing pressure for price concessions, Iron Age said, but they are insisting that established prices and terms of sales—for all customers—still hold.

"Incoming orders are still slightly lower than the current steel production rate," it said. "But the downtrend of the last several months appears to have leveled off. The mills are still looking for a pickup in March.

"Signs are increasing that steel users' inventories have hit hand-to-mouth levels. A Mdwestern appliance maker reportedly is down to about a one-week inventory Another steel user gave a 30-ton order to a warehouse because his regular mill supplier couldn't give him the prompt delivery he needed."

CLEVELAND (AP) — Truck and auto traffic on the Ohio Turnpike last month totaled nearly 50,000 vehicles more than in January, 1957, and income before debt service amounted to $635,892 against $549,084 a year ago, the Turnpike Commission reports.

Here's how man has dug, drilled and delved ever deeper into the innards of this mysterious old globe of ours.

Space Mystery? What's Under Our Feet?

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Correspondent

Chicago—While almost everyone is thinking about outer space, there are serious scientists who believe that we ought to be more concerned with what lies right under our feet before we give all thought to flitting about among the planets.

A little-known experiment they regard as important as the launching of a satellite is being planned by representatives of the Navy department, U. S. scientists, and practical oilmen to dig the deepest hole ever dug and discover, if possible, what the "nuclear core" of the earth is like.

This was revealed here at a national gathering of petroleum experts, who point out that man literally has not yet scratched the surface of his own planet.

He has gone about 10 miles high and sent objects several hundred miles up, considering Russia's sputniks and our own rockets, but never has managed to go deeper than about two and a half miles or to penetrate farther than about four and a half miles with his deepest hole.

Taking part in the meeting here was John W. Mecom, Houston, Tex., oilman who owns with others in Louisiana the deepest oil well in the world—22,570 feet. The scientists would like to bore down at least 30,000 feet in a government project which they contend would cost a fraction of the earth satellite's outlays.

* * *

THE INITIAL plan was to do the drilling on Eniwetok atoll in the Pacific, but now it is being shifted to the Bahamas, where Mecom's deep drilling equipment would be closer at hand.

The scientists and oilmen figure that the biggest problem in digging a 30,000-foot hole will be in refrigeration at the deeper levels to prevent drills and pipes from disintegrating in the intense heat encountered at great depths.

What is the source of that heat? This is just one of the mysteries the scientists think ought to be solved before man gets all wrapped up in outer space problems. Since radiation occurs in some quantities among almost all rocks, they think that huge natural atomic furnaces may lie at our feet waiting to be tapped.

The deepest spot known so far on the earth is either in Mindinao Deep of 35,400 feet, off the Philippines, or the sounding of 5,814 fathoms made in 1954 by a research ship about 180 miles south of Tongatabu island in the South Pacific.

Dr. Maurice Ewing, Columbia university physicist, wants to drill a 2,000-foot-deep hole beyond one of these great ocean depths. It represents a huge task, considering that two French naval officers who in a diving bell went only 13,388 feet below the surface of the Atlantic ocean in 1954 and are believed to hold the all-time depth record.

Man's other efforts to get under the skin of his own earth seem rather puny in comparison with its 7,900-mile diameter at the poles and 7,926.6 miles at the equator. The record for descent into a natural cave is believed to be held by a team of 17 Italians who in August, 1954, probed 2,070 feet into the Preta Abyss.

The Crown mine in Johannesburg, Africa, is 9,000 feet deep, and the copper mine at Butte, Mon., is narly a mile deep. An iron mine at Hannover in the Ruhr valley, West Germany, is 4,593 feet deep.

Most of what man can guess about what it is like down there in the bowels of the earth has been deduced from studies of earthquake waves and the earth's own "tides," and not much more is known than Lord Kelvin figured out from such studies before 1900.

IN 1951, THE Carnegie institute in Washington, D. C., announced that its surveys of this sort indicate that the earth's crust is only about 25 miles thick, and that it floats on the dense interior "like a film of ice on water."

However, considering the earth's mass of six billion trillion tons (6 plus 21 zeros), the great central core is believed to be iron that would be molten if it were not for the 22,500 tons per inch pressure at the interior.

Leading scientific thought today is that there are three thin layers at the surface—sedimentary rocks, granite perhaps 12 miles thick, diorite about 10 miles thick, and then a great dunite inner shell, with iron at the center.

The dunite is believed to be about two-thirds as stiff as steel, and the iron core twice as stiff. But then, nobody knows for sure.

Fairfield County Road Bids Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways will open bids March 4 for building a 3.3-mile stretch of four-lane highway in Fairfield County northeast of Lancaster.

The project will be a relocation of U. S. 33, beginning two miles northeast of Lancaster and ending about seven miles from the Franklin County line.

Moscow Paper Decries 'Junk' at Carnival

MOSCOW (AP) — The newspaper Evening Moscow has blasted the government-publicized pre- Lenten carnival for unloading worthless junk on unsuspecting holidayers.

The carnival, a revival of the czarist "Maslennitsa" or Butter Week, consists mainly of small stalls peddling food, drink and souvenirs in Lenin Stadium.

The paper said one vendor was trying to sell souvenir plates from last summer's youth festival.

Darby, Ashville Move into County Tournament Finals

Trojans Score 75-72 Triumph In Overtime

Melvin Stars With Free Throws As Game Ends

By PAUL SMALLWOOD
Herald Staff Writer

Area cage fans witnessed one of the most exciting games to date in the Pickaway County tournament last night when the powerful Trojans of Darby put on a mighty effort to down the equally strong Buffalos of Scioto, 75-72, in an overtime struggle.

Darby, winner of regular county league play, earned the right to meet Ashville Friday night in the 1958 tournament championship game. The Broncos rocketed into the finals with a 64-43 victory over the Bulldogs of New Holland in the second game of the evening.

Scioto and New Holland will battle it out for third place consolation honors.

Both Darby and Scioto rolled into the Coliseum determined that victory was a must. Darby proved stronger in the final outcome but it took an overtime period to do it.

• • •

AFTER a furious four quarters of regulation play, the score ended in a 65-65 deadlock thanks to Buffalo Dickie Melvin's two foul shots which tied things up in a dead heat. Melvin turned the trick with only 34 seconds remaining in the game.

With several first stringers missing in the overtime due to five personal fouls, both teams still were full of fight and looking for a crucial win. However, Darby retained its composure and managed to outscore the ever surging Buffalos, 10-7, in the last hectic three minutes.

It would be difficult to pick an individual star, for every player who saw action turned in a good performance for his school.

Roger Knapp was as hot as a poker for the Buffalos as he led all scorers for the evening with 26 points. Darby fans had nothing but priase for big John Drummond who sparked the Trojans with 23 points.

Equally encouraging was the fine play of Scioto's Melvin who blazed away for 21 points in a losing effort, with 13 of his tallies coming at the foul line. Matching his performance was the outstanding play of sophomore Tommy Walters of the Trojans who put on quite a show with his one-handed jump shots which helped him net 22 points for the evening.

Although the game now is history, local cage fans will long discuss the individual merits and precision play of the game. The contest furnished thrills galore for a jam-packed Coliseum audience which was tense with excitement.

SCIOTO behind the deadly shooting of Knapp and Melvin, gained an early upper hand to lead 19-17 at the end of the first quarter and 35-30 at halftime.

Far from finished, Coach John McPherson's Trojans roared back in the third quarter with the strength of a hungry lion to explode for 27 points while holding the upstart Buffalos to 13. This made the third period score read, 57-48, in favor of Darby and suddenly things started to look brighter for the once-trailing Trojans.

Darby maintained a lead throughout most of the final chapter, but Coach Joe Corbett's quintet was ever close at the leaders' heels.

With just 34 seconds remaining and Darby leading, 65-63, Melvin calmly stepped to the foul line and dropped in two charities to even things up and virtually send the crowd into hysterics. About five seconds earlier the speedy little guard had netted a bucket from underneath to bring the Buffalos within two points of a deadlock.

Not to be denied, the Trojans regrouped in the overtime to pull things out of the fire. Drummond was a vital cog at this stage, dumping in two buckets and coming through with some valuable rebounding. Dave Musselman added four foul shots and Ronnie Gutheil tallied two.

At this point Knapp had fouled out and Melvin followed the same route about midway in the overtime. Bill Whitside took up the slack by sinking a bucket and two foul tosses. Ernie Milburn added two free throws and Gary Clark one in the fading Scioto battle.

• • •

SCIOTO started the game with a bang by gaining a 7-1 edge as Melvin hit from under and made two foul shots, Knapp dropped in a long one and Milburn meshed a free throw.

Darby came to life when Gutheil fired a bunny and the race was on. From that point on the final outcome was anyone's guess.

Knapp gave the Trojans fits early in the second quarter when he hit for 10 straight points on three jump shots, a drive-in and two foul shots.

Walters of Darby virtually equalled this feat by consistently dropping in one-hand push shots from all over the floor. Most of his shots touched nothing but the netting.

Both teams had similar shooting averages. Darby hit 27 times on 71 attempts for a 38 per cent mark and Scioto made good on 22 of 56 chances for a 39.2 average

Darby made 21 of 36 foul shots and Scioto tallied 28 of 40.

Ross County Cage Semifinals Slated Tonight in CHS Gym

The Ross County cage tournament roars into the semifinals tonight at Circleville High School gym with two games on schedule.

Shooting for berths in the district tournament, Huntington will meet Centralia at 7:30 p. m. and Twin takes on Unioto at 8:30 p. m. Tourney finals will be played in the Circleville gym Saturday night.

Huntington, Ross County League champion, brings an 18-1 record to the CHS court compared to Centralia's 14-4 for the season.

• • •

HUNTINGTON advanced to the semifinals with a 57-53 decision over Southeastern Saturday night. Centralia eliminated Frankfort, 93-54, Friday night.

Twin marched to the third round of play by dusting off Kingston, 50-47, Saturday night. Unioto accomplished the same job by taking Bainbridge in hand, 84-59, the same night.

Teams slated for action tonight are the choice of Ross County basketball. Although Huntington appears to be the team to beat, the other three quintets are potential tournament champions.

Centralia will depend on the abilities of ace scorers Bobby Shaw and Floyd Myers, a tough combination for any opponent to handle.

Celtics Giving Impression Of Coasting into Play-Off

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Take a good club like the Boston Celtics. Let 'em lose a few. Are they coasting? Or slumping? That's the question in the push for play-off berths today in the National Basketball Assn.

It looks more like coasting than slumping with the Celtics, who despite a 123-103 defeat by the Philadelphia Warriors Wednesday night still have a 6½-game Eastern Division lead. The defeat gave the Celts a .500 mark for their last four games and dipped them below .700 for one of the few times this season.

The decision hoisted the Warriors two games ahead of New York, beaten 116-110 by Syracuse, in their fight for the final playoff berth in the Eastern.

Detroit nailed a playoff berth in the Western by eliminating Minneapolis 117-115 in overtime in the only other game scheduled. A jump shot by Gene Shue with 2 seconds left in the overtime put the Lakers 10½ games behind the Pistons with only 10 to play.

The Warriors, led by Woody Sauldsberry's 24 points and Paul Arizin's 23, hit 15 of 26 field goal attempts in the first period while the Celts connected on but four of 26. By the half it was 67-33 and the Warriors had a 38-point bulge in the third period.

Vern Mikkelsen scored 28 for the Lakers, who also sat out last year's playoffs, but it was George Yardley, the NBA's leading scorer, who was high. He counted 43 and needs 216 in his remaining nine games to junk George Mikan's one-season record of 1,715 points.

Tigers Meet Logan Five In Final Tilt

Coach Dick Boyd's Circleville High cage quintet winds up season play by hosting the Chieftains of Logan Friday night.

The up and down Tigers go into the contest with nine wins and eight losses. They ended South Central Ohio League play with an even slate of 4-4.

Bill Johnson, Mike Hosler, Jon Parcher and John Wright will be playing their last court game before a home crowd. Their final action will come in the annual district tournament.

Starting nods probably will go to Johnson, Parcher, Hosler, Rowland. The fifth berth will be filled by either John Wright, Walter Arledge, Asa Elsea of Dick Smith.

Chamberlain Denies Plan To Turn Pro

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain says he's getting pretty annoyed at rumors he's going to desert the University of Kansas basketball team for professional ball.

"It appears that someone is trying to start trouble," said Wilt Wednesday after the latest of the rumors. The report, from Philadelphia, had it that Chamberlain was thinking of joining the Harlem Globe Trotters. Similar reports have floated around periodically for two years.

Herb Score Preps, Says Eyesight OK

"I can see the ball much better than I could when I worked out last fall," the fireballing Cleveland Indian southpaw said. "I don't have any doubts.

"In fact, I don't believe there is any difference in my eyesight at all. Personally, I feel much better now. I know I have more confidence."

Score almost lost the sight of his right eye when hit by a line drive off the bat of the New York Yankees' Gil McDougald May 7. For months, his future was in doubt.

He had been considered one of the major leagues' outstanding pitchers after posting a 20-9 record in 1956 but there had been doubt whether he ever would regain his confidence even if he regained his eyesight.

Wednesday, he pitched to his hard - hitting teammate Rocky Colavito in a special drill to test his arm and his reaction to batted balls.

After the workout, Colavito predicted: "Herb's going to be all right. He looked 100 per cent better today than he did when he worked out late last season."

Bowie Track Fails To Beat Weather

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—The race program at Bowie Track was called off again today—the fourth in a row. The outlook for Friday was still uncertain.

Track officials have let the 18-inch snow remain on the grounds to prevent the turf from freezing up in the bitter cold weather that has hung on since the weekend snow storm.

Scioto, Bulldogs In Consolation

With district berths already clinched league champion Darby (17-2) will meet the Ashville Broncos (15-4) for the Pickaway county tournament title tomorrow at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Tomorrow night the consolation game will find Scioto (15-6) battling New Holland, (15-4) for third place and a district berth.

Darby had a battle on its hands last night before coming out on top 75-72, in an overtime with Scioto. With this victory tucked away the Trojans will now tangle with a ball club they defeated by 21 points in the first game of the season for both teams.

The Trojans will meet an entirely different quintet tomorrow night as the Broncos suffered from "footballitis" in their first loss of the year but have improved tremendously since then.

The Broncos have developed into five dangerous scorers from any spot on the hardwood. Larry Shillingburg is one of the fastest men in the county and his defensive play will upset any opponent. Cohort guard, Ronny Bartholomew, doesn't often reach the double scoring column, but is a teriffic playmaker and rebounder.

Under the bucket the Broncos are superb. Center Bob Hoover is probably the outstanding rebounder in the county and combined with brother Dick, who has an unbeatable driving jump shot from the side, make the bankboard spot a rough place. Don Rathburn rounds out the Ashville starters. Rathburn is a capable rebounder and has a deadly corner set shot when left in the open.

Darby will counter with just as rough a starting five as the Broncos. Led by second leading county scorer Ronny Gutheil, 21.7, the Trojans will compete with any team from any spot on the floor.

Gutheil has recently developed his defensive game and will give the Hoover brothers a rough "row to hoe". John Drummond had come along farther than any other tournament player as his rebounding was instrumental in Darby's victory last night. Drummond also tallied 23 points to lead the scoring for the Trojans.

Ned Musselman is the Trojan who hasn't hit of late as he has meshed only 18 points in three games for a six-point average. Musselman had an 18.1 average during the year. Gary Wardell has been having trouble staying in a ball game due to personals.

Tommy Walters rounds out the starting five for the Trojans and without this young sophomore the Trojans would be "hurting". Walters has been playing some of the most sensational basketball of the tournament and is one player who has shown improvement when the pressure is the greatest.

In the second game, the little demons of county play, the Scioto Buffalos, will tangle with the soon to be leaving New Holland Bulldogs. The Buffalos lost a heartbreaking game during league play, to Darby 69-66, and even a tougher loss last night 75-72 in an overtime. The three-point margin seems to be a Scioto jinx.

Scioto lays claim to the county's No. 1 scorer, Roger Knapp with a 23.6 average, and the tournament's top scorer, Dickie Melvin with 51 points in two contests for a 25.5 average.

The Buffalos feature the play of these two miniature guards who can hit from any place on the court and have exceptional speed. Add the rebounding and scoring threat of Gary Clark and you come up with a teriffic combination.

Ernie Milburn assists Clark with the rebounding and was able to score last night against a much taller Darby unit. Bill Whiteside rounds out the starting five with fine ball handling and a steadying hand.

The New Holland Bulldogs haven't played basketball as they did during the season for a 13-3 record, and third place in the league game and entered the tournament with an outstanding defensive average of 43.6.

Leading scorer and ball player John Lininger has been below par and has been held to a 12 point average in three games.

Kenny Speakman who has been playing stellar ball at a guard position, is the only Bulldog to hit consistently. Roger Yoeman has averaged 8.1 in the tournament followed by Bill Garrison with a 7.7 average and Charles Free with just seven points. Free was held scoreless last night.

Unless the Bulldogs snap out of their slump, the Buffalos will romp to Capital University gymnasium for the district Capital University tournament.

Scioto defeated New Holland in season play, 41-37. The district drawings will be held Sunday at Capital University.

Laurelville Gains Finals

Meets Union Team For Meet Crown

The Laurelville Wildcats moved into the Hocking County tournament finals with a 57-54 victory over nemesis South Bloomingville in the semininals last night at Logan.

Led by the half-court shooting of Dave Hinton and the stellar rebounding of Tom Eveland, Wendell Frazier, and Mickey Young the Wildcats took a halftime lead and held on till the finish.

The game started out slowly as Bloomingville led 10-7 at the first quarter mark, but Laurelville ballooned to a 27-22 halftime lead.

The first half was markedly a defensive play as both teams were cautious. Gary Allen didn't reach his average but was tremendous with his defense of leading Hocking County scorer Tom Justice, who topped the point making with 24 points.

Laurelville continued to build up its lead with 20 points in the third period for a 47-38 third quarter lead. South Bloomingville had a two-man ball club in Justice and Unger and their teammates constantly fed them the ball. Unger tallied 20 points.

• • •

BLOOMINGVILLE outscored the Wildcats in the final quarter, 16-10, but its rally fell short and Laurelville registered victory No. 15 against five losses.

Hinton led Laurelville scoring with 20 points followed by Allen with 11, and Young with 10.

The Wildcats will meet league champions Union Furnace in the finals on Saturday night. These two teams split games during the season as Laurelville won the first game, 64-60, and lost the second contest, 79-69.

Campanella's Future Still Uncertain

Time may determine whether the 37-year-old Los Angeles Dodgers' catcher will recover from the broken neck he got in an auto accident Jan. 28.

He is in Glen Cove Community Hospital, still paralyzed from the hips down and his muscle strength has not improved.

Harry C. F. Gifford, administrator of the hospital, said Wednesday, "The longer the paralysis remains unchanged, the less one can expect for the future."

There was no mention whether he'll ever play baseball again.

Gifford's report said, "The consensus remains that specific predictions can not be made at this time as to the degree of neurological improvement." It added one ominous note that the slight improvement shown in the first week had tapered off.

Campanella's general medical condition was termed "satisfactory." The likeable, roly - poly baseball player with the squeaky, high-pitched voice was showing a great deal of interest in his surroundings. He has been listening to the radio and soon will be able to watch television.

2 Entries Eyed In Widener 'Cap

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Oddsmakers figure Saturday's $100,000 added Widener Handicap will be a two-horse race between Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler and Calumet Farm's Iron Liege.

Odds on Bold Ruler, 1957 horse of the year trained by Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, dropped to 4 to 5 in spite of his top impost of 128 pounds.

Bold Ruler will be making his first appearance as a 4-year-old and his usual rider, Eddie Arcaro, will be in the saddle.

4,000-Jinx Hangs Over Eddie Arcaro

Balked for two days in a drive to score his 4,000th winner, Arcaro had three mounts for the afternoon, and needed just one victory to reach his target.

Wittenberg '5' Due To Tangle With Akron

Teams Still Unbeaten In Ohio Conference, To Meet March 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With both Wittenberg and Akron rolling past Ohio Conference opponents with reckless abandon, the March 1 clash between the two teams, unbeaten in conference competition, appears to be THE conference game of the season.

Akron ran its string to nine in a row Wednesday night, crushing Ohio Wesleyan 105-62. The Zips are presently in second place in the loop, only because they haven't played as many conference as Wittenberg (12-0).

Akron, with five players scoring in the double figures, hit on 53.7 per cent of their field goal shots. They have a 16-5 season mark.

For Wesleyan it was the 11th feat in 14 conference games and their 15th in 18 games this season.

In two other Ohio Conference games Wednesday night, Denison slowed down its offense and tightened up its defense in the second half to down Heidelberg 75-58, and Wooster defeated Marietta 89-68.

Two games were also played in the Mid-American Conference but neither had any effect on the leader, Miami.

The Flashes used their stall, which has plauged teams all year, in the early minutes of play when they were ahead. But in the second half, with the Falcons holding a 10-point lead, they got a taste of their own medicine.

Bowling Green is 5-6 in the conference and 12-8 over-all. Kent is 3-9 and 9-11.

In Toledo, the Rockets (4-6 in the loop and 9-11 for the season) broke loose in the second half to send Western Michigan to its 10th defeat in 11 conference games, 102-87.

In one non-conference tilt, Mount Union (11-4) defeated Fenn (5-12) 82-71 in Cleveland.

John Harper scored 19 points for Fenn to put him in second place among the all-time Fenn scoring leaders with a total of 715. With only two more games left for the senior, the school record of 873 appears far out of his reach. It is held by Fred Infield, who graduated in 1956.

Tiger Jones Wins Nod over Gavilan

Bronco Quint Wins Handily Over Scrappy Dutch, 62-43

By J. I. SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

The Ashville Broncos sent screaming New Holland fans home silent last night and left no doubt in anyone's mind that they were the superior tean as the Broncos tromped the Bulldogs, 64-43 in the semifinals of the Pickaway County tournament held in the Coliseum.

Both quintets played an extremely clean game and sportsmanship was of the finest. Ashville committed 11 fouls and New Holland made 12 personals.

The Bulldogs played a control-type floor game for a quarter and a half, but were finally forced to speed up the pace and get off as many shots as possible. New Holland slowed up the game in its early minutes and took only the clear shots, but couldn't connect and Ashville took a 12-point lead.

The Broncos pounded to a 4-0 lead before Bulldog John Lininger slipped through a free throw with 5:55 remaining in the first quarter. New Holland started out with a close defense around the center to stop the Broncos ever-dangerous Hoover brothers. But Bronco Larry Shillingburg quickly made shreds of this defense as he tallied two straight field goals from 30 to 35 feet out. New Holland shifted its defense out to put a stop to Shillingburg's shenanigans and that was its first quarter downfall.

THE BRONCOS meshed their next six two-pointers from within six feet of the bucket. By the end of the first period Ashville had doubled the score and led 18-9.

New Holland fell further behind in the second quarter as Ashville's speed and fast pace rattled the Bulldogs and caused them to commit fouls and turnovers. It became plain to the 2,500 or so fans in this period that New Holland lacked the horses to compete with the Broncos.

The Bulldogs set up many good plays and broke a man loose, only to have him miss and naturally Ashville grabbed the rebound. Kenny Speakman kept the Dutchmen inspired as he kept Ashville somewhat off-balance with an accurate set shot from outside the foul circle.

New Holland started the second half as if ignited during their halftime rest. They zipped three straight field goals through the hoops to pull within nine points of the Broncs. Then the roof fell in as the Hoover brothers triggered 12 consecutive points before New Holland's Lininger tallied his fourth field goal.

Ashville set up a defense that centered around Bulldog Lininger and let the New Holland guards run loose. This maneuver proved effective as "Big John" could only break loose for seven field goal attempts and rang the nets for five. Along with two charity tosses, Lininger led his New Holland teammates with 12 points.

The Broncos led by a "country mile" at the three-quarter mark, 50-31. In the final period Ashville Coach Russ Gregg substituted freely after the Broncos increased their lead to 25 points.

Dick Hoover led Ashville for the second straight night with 15 points. He was followed in the scoring column by Shillingburg and brother Bob with 14 each. Other middle-man, Don Rathburn, registered 12 points for his evening's work.

THE BRONCOS shot 76 times from the field and bucketed 29 for a 38 per cent shooting average. New Holland, on the other hand, shot 31 per cent with 18 field goals on 58 attempts. Ashville shot 43 per cent from the 15-foot line with six free throws in 14 chances. The Bulldogs shot 41 per cent with seven markers in 17 tries.

Ashville committed 14 turnovers and New Holland lost the ball due to errors 20 times. Many of the Bulldogs' turnovers were due to the defensive ability of Shillingburg in the backcourt as he stole the ball for quick two-pointers.

Ashville will enter the finals Friday night with a 15-4 record and 12 straight wins. The Broncos will face a determined Darby with a 17-2 record, which is the best in the county.

New Holland, now 15-4 on the season, will tangle with Scioto, 15-6, in the consolation game at 7:30 p m. Friday.

Darby, Ashville Move into County Tournament Finals

Trojans Score 75-72 Triumph In Overtime

Melvin Stars With Free Throws As Game Ends

By PAUL SMALLWOOD
Herald Staff Writer

Area cage fans witnessed one of the most exciting games to date in the Pickaway County tournament last night when the powerful Trojans of Darby put on a mighty effort to down the equally strong Buffalos of Scioto, 75-72, in an overtime struggle.

Darby, winner of regular county league play, earned the right to meet Ashville Friday night in the 1958 tournament championship game. The Broncos rocketed into the finals with a 64-43 victory over the Bulldogs of New Holland in the second game of the evening.

Scioto and New Holland will battle it out for third place consolation honors.

Both Darby and Scioto rolled into the Coliseum determined that victory was a must. Darby proved stronger in the final outcome but it took an overtime period to do it.

AFTER a furious four quarters of regulation play, the score ended in a 65-65 deadlock thanks to Buffalo Dickie Melvin's two foul shots which tied things up in a dead heat. Melvin turned the trick with only 34 seconds remaining in the game.

With several first stringers missing in the overtime due to five personal fouls, both teams still were full of fight and looking for a crucial win. However, Darby retained its composure and managed to outscore the ever surging Buffalos, 10-7, in the last hectic three minutes.

DICKIE MELVIN
. . .tied it up

It would be difficult to pick an individual star, for every player who saw action turned in a good performance for his school.

Roger Knapp was as hot as a poker for the Buffalos as he led all scorers for the evening with 26 points. Darby fans had nothing but priase for big John Drummond who sparked the Trojans with 23 points.

Equally encouraging was the fine play of Scioto's Melvin who blazed away for 21 points in a losing effort, with 13 of his tallies coming at the foul line. Matching his performance was the outstanding play of sophomore Tommy Walters of the Trojans who put on quite a show with his one-handed jump shots which helped him net 22 points for the evening.

Although the game now is history, local cage fans will long discuss the individual merits and precision play of the game. The contest furnished thrills galore for a jam-packed Coliseum audience which was tense with excitement.

SCIOTO behind the deadly shooting of Knapp and Melvin, gained an early upper hand to lead 19-17 at the end of the first quarter and 35-30 at halftime.

Far from finished, Coach John McPherson's Trojans roared back in the third quarter with the strength of a hungry lion to explode for 27 points while holding the upstart Buffalos to 13. This made the third period score read, 57-48, in favor of Darby and suddenly things started to look brighter for the once-trailing Trojans.

Darby maintained a lead throughout most of the final chapter, but Coach Joe Corbett's quintet was ever close at the leaders' heels.

With just 34 seconds remaining and Darby leading, 65-63, Melvin calmly stepped to the foul line and dropped in two charities to even things up and virtually send the crowd into hysterics. About five seconds earlier the speedy little guard had netted a bucket from underneath to bring the Buffalos within two points of a deadlock.

Not to be denied, the Trojans regrouped in the overtime to pull things out of the fire. Drummond was a vital cog at this stage, dumping in two buckets and coming through with some valuable rebounding. Dave Musselman added four foul shots and Ronnie Gutheil tallied two.

At this point Knapp had fouled out and Melvin followed the same route about midway in the overtime. Bill Whitside took up the slack by sinking a bucket and two foul tosses. Ernie Milburn added two free throws and Gary Clark one in the fading Scioto battle.

• • •

SCIOTO started the game with a bang by gaining a 7-1 edge as Melvin hit from under and made two foul shots, Knapp dropped in a long one and Milburn meshed a free throw.

Darby came to life when Gutheil fired a bunny and the race was on. From that point on the final outcome was anyone's guess.

Knapp gave the Trojans fits early in the second quarter when he hit for 10 straight points on three jump shots, a drive-in and two foul shots.

Walters of Darby virtually equalled this feat by consistently dropping in one-hand push shots from all over the floor. Most of his shots touched nothing but the netting.

Both teams had similar shooting averages. Darby hit 27 times on 71 attempts for a 38 per cent mark and Scioto made good on 22 of 56 chances for a 39.2 average.

Darby made 21 of 36 foul shots and Scioto tallied 28 of 40.

Ross County Cage Semifinals Slated Tonight in CHS Gym

The Ross County cage tournament roars into the semifinals tonight at Circleville High School gym with two games on schedule.

Shooting for berths in the district tournament, Huntington will meet Centralia at 7:30 p. m. and Twin takes on Unioto at 8:30 p. m. Tourney finals will be played in the Circleville gym Saturday night.

Huntington, Ross County League champion, brings an 18-1 record to the CHS court compared to Centralia's 14-4 for the season.

• • •

HUNTINGTON advanced to the semifinals with a 57-53 decision over Southeastern Saturday night. Centralia eliminated Frankfort, 93-54, Friday night.

Twin marched to the third round of play by dusting off Kingston, 50-47, Saturday night. Unioto accomplished the same job by taking Bainbridge in hand, 84-59, the same night.

Teams slated for action tonight are the choice of Ross County basketball. Although Huntington appears to be the team to beat, the other three quintets are potential tournament champions.

Celtics Giving Impression Of Coasting into Play-Off

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Take a good club like the Boston Celtics. Let 'em lose a few. Are they coasting? Or slumping? That's the question in the push for play-off berths today in the National Basketball Assn.

It looks more like coasting than slumping with the Celtics, who despite a 123-103 defeat by the Philadelphia Warriors Wednesday night still have a 6½-game Eastern Division lead. The defeat gave the Celts a .500 mark for their last four games and dipped them below .700 for one of the few times this season.

The decision hoisted the Warriors two games ahead of New York, beaten 116-110 by Syracuse, in their fight for the final playoff berth in the Eastern.

Detroit nailed a playoff berth in the Western by eliminating Minneapolis 117-115 in overtime in the only other game scheduled. A jump shot by Gene Shue with 2 seconds left in the overtime put the Lakers 10½ games behind the Pistons with only 10 to play.

The Warriors, led by Woody Sauldsberry's 24 points and Paul Arizin's 23, hit 15 of 26 field goal attempts in the first period while the Celts connected on but four of 26. By the half it was 67-33 and the Warriors had a 38-point bulge in the third period.

Vern Mikkelsen scored 28 for the Lakers, who also sat out last year's playoffs, but it was George Yardley, the NBA's leading scorer, who was high. He counted 43 and needs 216 in his remaining nine games to junk George Mikan's one-season record of 1,715 points.

Tigers Meet Logan Five In Final Tilt

Coach Dick Boyd's Circleville High cage quintet winds up season play by hosting the Chieftains of Logan Friday night.

The up and down Tigers go into the contest with nine wins and eight losses. They ended South Central Ohio League play with an even slate of 4-4.

Starting nods probably will go to Johnson, Parcher, Hosler, Rowland. The fifth berth will be filled by either John Wright, Walter Arledge, Asa Elsea of Dick Smith.

Chamberlain Denies Plan To Turn Pro

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain says he's getting pretty annoyed at rumors he's going to desert the University of Kansas basketball team for professional ball.

"It appears that someone is trying to start trouble," said Wilt Wednesday after the latest of the rumors. The report, from Philadelphia, had it that Chamberlain was thinking of joining the Harlem Globe Trotters. Similar reports have floated around periodically for two years.

Herb Score Preps, Says Eyesight OK

"I can see the ball much better than I could when I worked out last fall," the fireballing Cleveland Indian southpaw said. "I don't have any doubts.

"In fact, I don't believe there is any difference in my eyesight at all. Personally, I feel much better now. I know I have more confidence."

Score almost lost the sight of his right eye when hit by a line drive off the bat of the New York Yankees' Gil McDougald May 7. For months, his future was in doubt.

He had been considered one of the major leagues' outstanding pitchers after posting a 20-9 record in 1956 but there had been doubt whether he ever would regain his confidence even if he regained his eyesight.

Wednesday, he pitched to his hard - hitting teammate Rocky Colavito in a special drill to test his arm and his reaction to batted balls.

After the workout, Colavito predicted: "Herb's going to be all right. He looked 100 per cent better today than he did when he worked out late last season."

Bowie Track Fails To Beat Weather

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—The race program at Bowie Track was called off again today—the fourth in a row. The outlook for Friday was still uncertain.

Track officials have let the 18-inch snow remain on the grounds to prevent the turf from freezing up in the bitter cold weather that has hung on since the weekend snow storm.

Scioto, Bulldogs In Consolation

With district berths already clinched league champion Darby (17-2) will meet the Ashville Broncos (15-4) for the Pickaway county tournament title tomorrow at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Tomorrow night the consolation game will find Scioto (15-6) battling New Holland, (15-4) for third place and a district berth.

Darby had a battle on its hands last night before coming out on top 75-72, in an overtime with Scioto. With this victory tucked away the Trojans will now tangle with a ball club they defeated by 21 points in the first game of the season for both teams.

The Trojans will meet an entirely different quintet tomorrow night as the Broncos suffered from "footballitis" in their first loss of the year but have improved tremendously since then.

The Broncos have developed into five dangerous scorers from any spot on the hardwood. Larry Shillingburg is one of the fastest men in the county and his defensive play will upset any opponent. Cohort guard, Ronny Bartholomew, doesn't often reach the double scoring column, but is a teriffic playmaker and rebounder.

Under the bucket the Broncos are superb. Center Bob Hoover is probably the outstanding rebounder in the county and combined with brother Dick, who has an unbeatable driving jump shot from the side, make the bankboard spot a rough place. Don Rathburn rounds out the Ashville starters. Rathburn is a capable rebounder and has a deadly corner set shot when left in the open.

Darby will counter with just as rough a starting five as the Broncos. Led by second leading county scorer Ronny Gutheil, 21.7, the Trojans will compete with any team from any spot on the floor.

Gutheil has recently developed his defensive game and will give the Hoover brothers a rough "row to hoe". John Drummond had come along farther than any other tournament player as his rebounding was instrumental in Darby's victory last night. Drummond also tallied 23 points to lead the scoring for the Trojans.

Ned Musselman is the Trojan who hasn't hit of late as he has meshed only 18 points in three games for a six-point average. Musselman had an 18.1 average during the year. Gary Wardell has been having trouble staying in a ball game due to personals.

Tommy Walters rounds out the starting five for the Trojans and without this young sophomore the Trojans would be "hurting". Walters has been playing some of the most sensational basketball of the tournament and is one player who has shown improvement when the pressure is the greatest.

In the second game, the little demons of county play, the Scioto Buffalos, will tangle with the soon to be leaving New Holland Bulldogs. The Buffalos lost a heartbreaking game during league play, to Darby 69-66, and even a tougher loss last night 75-72 in an overtime. The three-point margin seems to be a Scioto jinx.

Scioto lays claim to the county's No. 1 scorer, Roger Knapp with a 23.6 average, and the tournament's top scorer, Dickie Melvin with 51 points in two contests for a 25.5 average.

The Buffalos feature the play of these two miniature guards who can hit from any place on the court and have exceptional speed. Add the rebounding and scoring threat of Gary Clark and you come up with a teriffic combination.

Ernie Milburn assists Clark with the rebounding and was able to score last night against a much taller Darby unit. Bill Whiteside rounds out the starting five with fine ball handling and a steadying hand.

The New Holland Bulldogs haven't played basketball as they did during the season for a 13-3 record, and third place in the league game and entered the tournament with an outstanding defensive average of 43.6.

Leading scorer and ball player John Lininger has been below par and has been held to a 12 point average in three games.

Kenny Speakman who has been playing stellar ball at a guard position, is the only Bulldog to hit consistently. Roger Yoeman has averaged 8.1 in the tournament followed by Bill Garrison with a 7.7 average and Charles Free with just seven points. Free was held scoreless last night.

Unless the Bulldogs snap out of their slump, the Buffalos will romp to Capital University gymnasium for the district Capital University tournament.

Scioto defeated New Holland in season play, 41-37. The district drawings will be held Sunday at Capital University.

Laurelville Gains Finals

Meets Union Team For Meet Crown

The Laurelville Wildcats moved into the Hocking County tournament finals with a 57-54 victory over nemesis South Bloomingville in the semininals last night at Logan.

Led by the half-court shooting of Dave Hinton and the stellar rebounding of Tom Eveland, Wendell Frazier, and Mickey Young the Wildcats took a halftime lead and held on till the finish.

The game started out slowly as Bloomingville led 10-7 at the first quarter mark, but Laurelville ballooned to a 27-22 halftime lead.

The first half was markedly a defensive play as both teams were cautious. Gary Allen didn't reach his average but was tremendous with his defense of leading Hocking County scorer Tom Justice, who topped the point making with 24 points.

Laurelville continued to build up its lead with 20 points in the third period for a 47-38 third quarter lead. South Bloomingville had a two-man ball club in Justice and Unger and their teammates constantly fed them the ball. Unger tallied 20 points.

• • •

BLOOMINGVILLE outscored the Wildcats in the final quarter, 16-10, but its rally fell short and Laurelville registered victory No. 15 against five losses.

Hinton led Laurelville scoring with 20 points followed by Allen with 11, and Young with 10.

The Wildcats will meet league champions Union Furnace in the finals on Saturday night. These two teams split games during the season as Laurelville won the first game, 64-60, and lost the second contest, 79-69.

Campanella's Future Still Uncertain

Time may determine whether the 37-year-old Los Angeles Dodgers' catcher will recover from the broken neck he got in an auto accident Jan. 28.

He is in Glen Cove Community Hospital, still paralyzed from the hips down and his muscle strength has not improved.

Harry C. F. Gifford, administrator of the hospital, said Wednesday, "The longer the paralysis remains unchanged, the less one can expect for the future."

There was no mention whether he'll ever play baseball again.

Gifford's report said, "The consensus remains that specific predictions can not be made at this time as to the degree of neurological improvement." It added one ominous note that the slight improvement shown in the first week had tapered off.

Campanella's general medical condition was termed "satisfactory." The likeable, roly - poly baseball player with the squeaky, high-pitched voice was showing a great deal of interest in his surroundings. He has been listening to the radio and soon will be able to watch television.

Wittenberg '5' Due To Tangle With Akron

Teams Still Unbeaten In Ohio Conference, To Meet March 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With both Wittenberg and Akron rolling past Ohio Conference opponents with reckless abandon, the March 1 clash between the two teams, unbeaten in conference competition, appears to be THE conference game of the season.

Akron ran its string to nine in a row Wednesday night, crushing Ohio Wesleyan 105-62. The Zips are presently in second place in the loop, only because they haven't played as many conference as Wittenberg (12-0).

Akron, with five players scoring in the double figures, hit on 53.7 per cent of their field goal shots. They have a 16-5 season mark.

For Wesleyan it was the 11th feat in 14 conference games and their 15th in 18 games this season.

In two other Ohio Conference games Wednesday night, Denison slowed down its offense and tightened up its defense in the second half to down Heidelberg 75-58, and Wooster defeated Marietta 89-68.

Two games were also played in the Mid-American Conference but neither had any effect on the leader, Miami.

Bowling Green avenged an earlier loss to a stalling and deliberate-playing Kent State team by tossing the stall right back at them in a 53-43 victory at Bowling Green.

The Flashes used their stall, which has plauged teams all year, in the early minutes of play when they were ahead. But in the second half, with the Falcons holding a 10-point lead, they got a taste of their own medicine.

Bowling Green is 5-6 in the conference and 12-8 over-all. Kent is 3-9 and 9-11.

In Toledo, the Rockets (4-6 in the loop and 9-11 for the season) broke loose in the second half to send Western Michigan to its 10th defeat in 11 conference games, 102-87.

Ohio's winningest basketball team, Steubenville, furthered its hopes for an NIT bid by swamping a favored St. Francis of Pennsylvania quintet, 65-45 in the Quaker state.

The Barons out-shot and out-rebounded their opponents in posting their 22nd consecutive victory and their 23rd in 24 games this year. St. Francis is now 15-4.

In one non-conference tilt, Mount Union (11-4) defeated Fenn (5-12) 82-71 in Cleveland.

John Harper scored 19 points for Fenn to put him in second place among the all-time Fenn scoring leaders with a total of 715. With only two more games left for the senior, the school record of 873 appears far out of his reach. It is held by Fred Infield, who graduated in 1956.

Tiger Jones Wins Nod over Gavilan

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Ralph (Tiger) Jones, a tough - skinned boxer from Brooklyn, sidetracked Kid Gavilan's comeback attempt with a split decision Wednesday night and the Cuban admitted afterward, "He good fighter—better than I expect."

Jones claimed Gavilan butted him over the eye in the ninth, inflicting a cut. The Kid Denied this, saying, "I feel right hand land real good — bang on the eye."

2 Entries Eyed In Widener 'Cap

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Oddsmakers figure Saturday's $100,000 added Widener Handicap will be a two-horse race between Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler and Calumet Farm's Iron Liege.

Odds on Bold Ruler, 1957 horse of the year trained by Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, dropped to 4 to 5 in spite of his top impost of 128 pounds.

Bold Ruler will be making his first appearance as a 4-year-old and his usual rider, Eddie Arcaro, will be in the saddle.

4,000-Jinx Hangs Over Eddie Arcaro

Bronco Quint Wins Handily Over Scrappy Dutch, 62-43

By J. I. SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

The Ashville Broncos sent screaming New Holland fans home silent last night and left no doubt in anyone's mind that they were the superior tean as the Broncos tromped the Bulldogs, 64-43 in the semifinals of the Pickaway County tournament held in the Coliseum.

Both quintets played an extremely clean game and sportsmanship was of the finest. Ashville committed 11 fouls and New Holland made 12 personals.

The defending tournament champions were just too much ball club for the Bulldogs. The game was a match of Ashville's poise and superb rebounding versus New Holland's typical effort to install ball control.

The Bulldogs played a control-type floor game for a quarter and a half, but were finally forced to speed up the pace and get off as many shots as possible. New Holland slowed up the game in its early minutes and took only the clear shots, but couldn't connect and Ashville took a 12-point lead.

The Broncos pounded to a 4-0 lead before Bulldog John Lininger slipped through a free throw with 5:55 remaining in the first quarter. New Holland started out with a close defense around the center to stop the Broncos ever-dangerous Hoover brothers. But Bronco Larry Shillingburg quickly made shreds of this defense as he tallied two straight field goals from 30 to 35 feet out. New Holland shifted its defense out to put a stop to Shillingburg's shenanigans and that was its first quarter downfall.

• • •

THE BRONCOS meshed their next six two-pointers from within six feet of the bucket. By the end of the first period Ashville had doubled the score and led 18-9.

New Holland fell further behind in the second quarter as Ashville's speed and fast pace rattled the Bulldogs and caused them to commit fouls and turnovers. It became plain to the 2,500 or so fans in this period that New Holland lacked the horses to compete with the Broncos.

The Bulldogs set up many good plays and broke a man loose, only to have him miss and naturally Ashville grabbed the rebound. Kenny Speakman kept the Dutchmen inspired as he kept Ashville somewhat off-balance with an accurate set shot from outside the foul circle.

New Holland started the second half as if ignited during their half-time rest. They zipped three straight field goals through the hoops to pull within nine points of the Broncs. Then the roof fell in as the Hoover brothers triggered 12 consecutive points before New Holland's Lininger tallied his fourth field goal.

Ashville set up a defense that centered around Bulldog Lininger and let the New Holland guards run loose. This maneuver proved effective as "Big John" could only break loose for seven field goal attempts and rang the nets for five. Along with two charity tosses, Lininger led his New Holland teammates with 12 points.

The Broncos led by a "country mile" at the three-quarter mark, 50-31. In the final period Ashville Coach Russ Gregg substituted freely after the Broncos increased their lead to 25 points.

Dick Hoover led Ashville for the second straight night with 15 points. He was followed in the scoring column by Shillingburg and brother Bob with 14 each. Other middle-man, Don Rathburn, registered 12 points for his evening's work.

• • •

THE BRONCOS shot 76 times from the field and bucketed 29 for a 38 per cent shooting average. New Holland, on the other hand, shot 31 per cent with 18 field goals on 58 attempts. Ashville shot 43 per cent from the 15-foot line with six free throws in 14 chances. The Bulldogs shot 41 per cent with seven markers in 17 tries.

Ashville committed 14 turnovers and New Holland lost the ball due to errors 20 times. Many of the Bulldogs' turnovers were due to the defensive ability of Shillingburg in the backcourt as he stole the ball for quick two-pointers.

Ashville will enter the finals Friday night with a 15-4 record and 12 straight wins. The Broncos will face a determined Darby with a 17-2 record, which is the best in the county.

New Holland, now 15-4 on the season, will tangle with Scioto, 15-6, in the consolation game at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

According to Mrs. Olen Black, president of the local chapter, all members of her organization will participate in the annual campaign.

Mrs. Jean West, chairman of the local Heart Sunday drive, also is in charge of the sorority's service committee which will direct the drive here.

Assisting Mrs. West on the sorority service committee are Mrs. Amy Miga, Mrs. William Sprout, Mrs. James Small, Mrs. Richard Thackery and Mrs. Reber Bell.

Captains for the campaign all are members of the local chapter. In addition, a host of volunteers outside the sorority will assist in the big push.

The sorority members and volunteers urge all local residents to answer their call by contributing to the vital campaign which does so much toward the constant fight against heart disease.

Mrs. West said her captains and volunteers gladly will accept donations of any size. Collectors will be identified by prominent name tags which will read "Heart Sunday Volunteer".

Leopold Up For Another Parole Hearing

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Parole and Pardon Board considers thrill - slayer Nathan Leopold's plea for parole today.

The 53-year-old convict, who has served more than 33 years in Stateville Prison for the 1924 kidnap-murder of Bobby Franks, 14, in Chicago, made his latest bid for freedom before the five-man board Feb. 5.

He pleaded: "Gentlemen, I beg you to show me the mercy I did not show. Give me the chance to try to be useful and to justify my existence."

This is Leopold's fifth attempt to win release from Stateville. He and Richard Loeb entered the prison Sept. 11, 1924, after pleading guilty to the crime. They were sentenced to life for murder and 99 years for kidnaping. Leopold was 19 and Loeb 18 at the time. Loeb was slain by another inmate in 1936.

Leopold and Loeb, sons of wealthy South Side Chicago families, were brilliant scholars and were graduate students at the University of Chicago. Both set about a twisted scheme to commit the perfect crime, to get $10,000 ransom and to examine coldly and intellectually their own reactions to their crime.

Leopold, who is suffering from diabetes, pictured himself as "an old man" who has had "12,000 days to carry my guilt in my soul and 12,000 nights to be bitterly remorseful."

JERUSALEM (AP) — One Israeli soldier was killed in a clash Wednesday on the Jordanian border. The army charged three Jordanian outposts opened fire on an Israeli patrol well within Israeli territory.

IS THERE A COLDER JOB?—Answering one of 30 alarms in the Pittsburgh area within 24 hours, ice-coated firemen pour water on a lumberyard blaze in Carnegie, a suburb. South Pole Post Office Doing Roaring Mail Business

By RENNIE TAYLOR

AT THE SOUTH POLE (AP)— A corner of the mess hall at this IGY station contains the post office with a magic name for millions of people around the world. It has the coveted postmark "Pole Station, Antarctica."

It is the target of stamp collectors everywhere. People stirred by curiosity write to the station to find out how its 18 men live in the world's most hostile climate. Lonely women write in the hope of striking up "pen pal" friendships. And the station always gets its full share of official mail and packages from home.

Occupying a space less than 10 feet square, this post office probably is the most elemental of all operated by Uncle Sam. Its equipment consists of a hand-operated stamp cancelling machine, a bathroom scale, a letter box, a cabinet containing about 50 pigeonholes and a few rubber stamps.

The pigeonholes are for outgoing, not incoming mail, because the Pole station sends back more letters than it receives. Stamp collectors send their covers to the station in packages. The covers, stamped and addressed by the senders, have to be sorted into bundles according to the states or countries of their destination.

This means more work than the postmaster, Louis B. deWit, Navy commissary steward from Ogden, Utah, can do. So other men of the station take turns helping him.

* * *

THE STAMP collecting part of the operation has become so heavy that the Navy has imposed a limit. Individuals are held to no more than five covers in each consignment. However, some of them have circumvented this by sending packages of five to several of the men here.

But the abuses are being overcome gradually. When deWit gets a package obviously containing large numbers of covers, he stamps it for return to the sender and it goes back unopened. Sometimes the scattered consignments from one person are collected, repackaged and returned to the sender without benefit of the magic postmark.

From the financial standpoint, deWit says, the government is doing well on its polar post office. This is mainly because it has no scales that will weigh ounces or fractions of an ounce. A man who mails a letter hefts it and guesses its weight. To make sure it won't be stopped en route for insufficient postage the sender always errs on the side of generosity in using stamps.

Since Nov. 16, when deWit took charge, the polar post office has received 1,036 pounds of mail. In that time it has sent out 645 pounds of mail and has another 200 pounds ready to go. About 75 per cent of the outgo is addressed to stamp collectors.

Errol Flynn Quitting Play In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Actor Errol Flynn, after brief tryouts here and in Detroit, is quitting the lead in "The Master of Thornfield." He loosed a volley of criticism at the play.

Huntington Hartford, who wrote the play, disclosed Flynn's leave-taking Tuesday night and said veteran actor John Emery will step into the part. Flynn shoves off Friday or Saturday, he said.

Flynn joined the criticism Tuesday in a conference with critics of Cincinnati newspapers, saying he doubts if the vehicle can reach Broadway. He said: "I can't do much with this the way it's written."

Hartford said Tuesday night: "In my own defense, I'd like to say that I have yet to hear my play (from Flynn) as it was written." 3

Flynn had said he feels the play is poorly written by his "good friend Huntington Hartford" and he feels, "disgruntled and put upon" because he said he was told he would get a topflight director and a first class play.

Hartford said after Tuesday night's performance that there will be much revision and polishing in the play and said, "We are working on the show right now."

He said he plans to change the title back to "Jane Eyre" — the book on which it is based. The next tryout is Tuesday in Boston.

Hartford said he didn't want Flynn to quit and said the actor had signed a six-month contract that goes through July 15.

Meat Production Showing Decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that production of meat this year is running about 10 per cent below last year.

Output by federally inspected slaughterers last week was 17 per cent below that of the corresponding week last year.

The decline is being reflected in both beef and pork. Slaughter supplies have been smaller than a year ago, reflecting last year's downturn in production. A considerable increase, particularly in pork, is expected late in the year.

Cure for Leprosy Hinted in Offing

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese bacteriologist claimed today that he has successfully cultivated the leprosy bacillus in the laboratory for the first time, a possible step toward elimination of the disease.

Dr. Norio Ogata, 71, of the Nippon Dental University warned:

"Success of the cultivation does not mean an immediate road toward diagnosing and treating leprosy has been opened. However, with the cooperation of others in the medical world, the time may come for eventual eradication of this difficult disease."

TOAST OF GRID WORLD — Their two cent ticket pyramided into $576,878.40 in the Littlewood pool in London, England — a world's record. Walter Brockwell and his wife, Kathleen, show their reaction to the whole thing. They're happy, too, that the winnings are tax free. He works as a foreman in a wine and spirit merchants shop.

Leopold Up For Another Parole Hearing

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Parole and Pardon Board considers thrill - slayer Nathan Leopold's plea for parole today.

The 53-year-old convict, who has served more than 33 years in Stateville Prison for the 1924 kidnap-murder of Bobby Franks, 14, in Chicago, made his latest bid for freedom before the five-man board Feb. 5.

He pleaded: "Gentlemen, I beg you to show me the mercy I did not show. Give me the chance to try to be useful and to justify my existence."

This is Leopold's fifth attempt to win release from Stateville. He and Richard Loeb entered the prison Sept. 11, 1924, after pleading guilty to the crime. They were sentenced to life for murder and 99 years for kidnaping. Leopold was 19 and Loeb 18 at the time. Loeb was slain by another inmate in 1936.

Leopold and Loeb, sons of wealthy South Side Chicago families, were brilliant scholars and were graduate students at the University of Chicago. Both set about a twisted scheme to commit the perfect crime, to get $10,000 ransom and to examine coldly and intellectually their own reactions to their crime.

Leopold, who is suffering from diabetes, pictured himself as "an old man" who has had "12,000 days to carry my guilt in my soul and 12,000 nights to be bitterly remorseful."

South Pole Post Office Doing Roaring Mail Business

By RENNIE TAYLOR

AT THE SOUTH POLE (AP)— A corner of the mess hall at this IGY station contains the post office with a magic name for millions of people around the world. It has the coveted postmark "Pole Station, Antarctica."

It is the target of stamp collectors everywhere. People stirred by curiosity write to the station to find out how its 18 men live in the world's most hostile climate. Lonely women write in the hope of striking up "pen pal" friendships. And the station always gets its full share of official mail and packages from home.

Occupying a space less than 10 feet square, this post office probably is the most elemental of all operated by Uncle Sam. Its equipment consists of a hand-operated stamp cancelling machine, a bathroom scale, a letter box, a cabinet containing about 50 pigeonholes and a few rubber stamps.

The pigeonholes are for outgoing, not incoming mail, because the Pole station sends back more letters than it receives. Stamp collectors send their covers to the station in packages. The covers, stamped and addressed by the senders, have to be sorted into bundles according to the states or countries of their destination.

This means more work than the postmaster, Louis E. deWit, Navy commissary steward from Ogden, Utah, can do. So other men of the station take turns helping him.

* * *

THE STAMP collecting part of the operation has become so heavy that the Navy has imposed a limit. Individuals are held to no more than five covers in each consignment. However, some of them have circumvented this by sending packages of five to several of the men here.

But the abuses are being overcome gradually. When deWit gets a package obviously containing large numbers of covers, he stamps it for return to the sender and it goes back unopened. Sometimes the scattered consignments from one person are collected, repackaged and returned to the sender without benefit of the magic postmark.

From the financial standpoint, deWit says, the government is doing well on its polar post office. This is mainly because it has no scales that will weigh ounces or fractions of an ounce. A man who mails a letter hefts it and guesses its weight. To make sure it won't be stopped en route for insufficient postage the sender always errs on the side of generosity in using stamps.

Since Nov. 16, when deWit took charge, the polar post office has received 1,036 pounds of mail. In that time it has sent out 645 pounds of mail and has another 200 pounds ready to go. About 75 per cent of the outgo is addressed to stamp collectors.

Errol Flynn Quitting Play In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Actor Errol Flynn, after brief tryouts here and in Detroit, is quitting the lead in "The Master of Thornfield." He loosed a volley of criticism at the play.

Huntington Hartford, who wrote the play, disclosed Flynn's leave-taking Tuesday night and said veteran actor John Emery will step into the part. Flynn shoves off Friday or Saturday, he said.

Flynn joined the criticism Tuesday in a conference with critics of Cincinnati newspapers, saying he doubts if the vehicle can reach Broadway. He said: "I can't do much with this the way it's written."

Hartford said Tuesday night: "In my own defense, I'd like to say that I have yet to hear my play (from Flynn) as it was written." 3

Flynn had said he feels the play is poorly written by his "good friend Huntington Hartford" and he feels "disgruntled and put upon" because he said he was told he would get a topflight director and a first class play.

Hartford said after Tuesday night's performance that there will be much revision and polishing in the play and said, "We are working on the show right now."

He said he plans to change the title back to "Jane Eyre" — the book on which it is based. The next tryout is Tuesday in Boston.

Hartford said he didn't want Flynn to quit and said the actor had signed a six-month contract that goes through July 15.

Meat Production Showing Decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that production of meat this year is running about 10 per cent below last year.

Output by federally inspected slaughterers last week was 17 per cent below that of the corresponding week last year.

The decline is being reflected in both beef and pork. Slaughter supplies have been smaller than a year ago, reflecting last year's downturn in production. A considerable increase, particularly in pork, is expected late in the year.

Cure for Leprosy Hinted in Offing

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese bacteriologist claimed today that he has successfully cultivated the leprosy bacillus in the laboratory for the first time, a possible step toward elimination of the disease.

Dr. Norio Ogata, 71, of the Nippon Dental University warned:

"Success of the cultivation does not mean an immediate road toward diagnosing and treating leprosy has been opened. However, with the cooperation of others in the medical world, the time may come for eventual eradication of this difficult disease."

TOAST OF GRID WORLD — Their two cent ticket pyramided into $576,878.40 in the Littlewood pool in London, England — a world's record. CHRIST PROMISES TO BE WITH THOSE WHO MEET TO PRAY UNITEDLY

Scripture—Matthew 18:19-20; John 4:23-24; Acts 1:12-14; Colossians 3:12-17.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE SUBJECT of today's lesson is worship. The root of our English word, worship, is worth, which means that we recognize the superiority of another.

Many children say extravagantly that they "worship" their father, mother, their day school or Sunday school teacher or a certain friend. In our lesson the word is used in its correct sense, for worship belongs to God our heavenly Father.

What is worth more, Dr. Wilbur M. Smith asks the younger classes—a lump of coal, a common stone, a piece of marble, or a small piece of gold or silver? Silver and gold is the answer, of course, but God, the Creator of all things, is to be worshipped by us above all—truly worshiped in our lives, our homes and in our Sunday schools and churches.

Matthew promised in Jesus' words: "Again I say unto you, that if two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, it shall be done for them of My Father which is in heaven. For where two or three are gathered in My name, there am I in the midst of them."—Matthew 18:19-20.

I am convinced that if children are taught from early childhood that they go to their Sunday school classes not only to meet their friends (which is good) but to learn about the Bible and its moral teachings, and to worship God and His Son Jesus devoutly, they will be able later to live upright lives, resisting the temptations that may come.

You will remember that Satan tried to tempt Jesus by telling Him that if He would worship him, all the kingdoms of the world should be His. Jesus answered that only God the Father was worthy to be worshiped.

Talking to the woman of Samaria at the well in Sychar, in central Palestine, Christ told her, "But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship Him. God is a Spirit, and they that worship Him must worship in spirit and in truth."

This woman had led an immoral life, but she listened to Christ's words and through her many others were converted. "Many missionaries have found this to be true in the midst of savagery," Dr. Wilbur M. Smith writes. "This indicates that the human heart, however tragic and dark its experiences, is capable of receiving, and at least in part comprehending, the highest spiritual truths."

Jesus' saying has not come true, even today, but it will be realized in God's own good time.

After Christ's ascension the apostles returned to Jerusalem, In an upper room they "continued with one accord in prayer and supplication, with the women, and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with His brethren." This is the last mention in the New Testament of Jesus' mother.

Writing to the Colossians, Paul lists the Christian virtues of humbleness of mind, mercy, kindness, meekness, longsuffering; forbearing one another and forgiving one another in a quarrel, remembering that Christ forgave them.

Freeway Bid Plans Pushed

120 Miles April 15 Is Goal of State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways hopes to have about 120 miles of the Cincinnati - Conneaut Freeway (Ohio-1) under contract by the middle of April.

The department is concentrating on taking bids for the 102-mile section between Columbus and Medina and the 47-mile strip between Painesville and the Pennsylvania line.

The department will open bids March 4 for a 4.3-mile section of Ohio 1 in Orange, Genoa and Berkshire Twps. in Delaware County. That section will connect with two under contract to the south.

Two weeks from then, the department hopes to be able to open bids on a freeway section in Ashtabula County and another in Morrow County. Tentatively set for bid taking on April 1 are sections in Ashland, Delaware and Richland counties.

The April 15 bid opening may see contractors submit proposals for building two freeway sections in Richland County.

If bids for all these sections are opened, the department still will have to take bids for about 27 more miles of freeway to reach its Columbus-to-Medina and Painesville-to-Pennsylvania line goals. That mileage is in Ashtabula, Lake, Morrow, Richland, and Medina counties.

P. E. Masheter, deputy highway director in charge of design and construction, says any freeway work contracted for by July can be finished by the fall of 1959. That is the goal for finishing the Columbus-Medina and Painesville-Pennsylvania line sections.

Little freeway work is under way now due to winter weather, he said. But by May 1 construction should be under way in full force.

Toledo Clinic To 'Import' British Nurses

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Flower Hospital believes it has discovered a possible answer to the shortage of nurses in America. It's going to import three from England.

"We believe we're gaining far more than just numerical additions," Administrator Victor D. Bjork said in an interview. "These British nurses are well trained, appear to be highly dedicated, and their willingness to live in residence at the hospital is something that is found less and less these days in young American women."

The three, all 23, have been professional nurses at Queen Mary's Hospital on Heath Street in London. They are Barbara Murdock, Sutton Macclesfield, Cheshire; Holly Raingill, Cheshire and Gwenda Swarbrick, Derbyshire.

Contacted through an advertisment in the Manchester Guardian, they are to board the Saxonia Feb. 28 and arrive in New York March 8.

They have permanent, one year visas and can become American citizens later if they wish, Bjork said.

At Flower, the three will be given the status of graduate nurses with starting pay of $265 monthly. By passing Ohio examinations they can become registered nurses which, at Flower, now start at between $290 and $300 a month.

Bricker Predicts Pickup In Employment in Spring

WASHINGTON (AP) — More jobs for Ohioans in the spring in industries dependent on the auto industry and in housing construction were predicted Thursday by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio).

He told a news conference that Ohio unemployment—now in excess of 200,000—exists largely in such industries as steel and suppliers of auto parts, both of which rely on the prosperity of the auto makers.

The senator said that in Ohio—where more than 200,000 now are jobless—"unemployment to a major degree is dependent on the auto industry."

"And I think there will be a turn in that when spring comes," he said.

With respect to housing, Bricker said new starts have been scheduled nationally at 11 per cent over a year ago. This, he said, will mean increased construction in Ohio.

He said he had not found during a recent tour of some Ohio cities that unemployment is hurting his chances for reelection for a third term.

Asked would he favor a stepped-up public works program if the economic situation worsens, Bricker said "yes". He added the administration is engaged in a sizable public works program in the construction of new post offices and roads.

"I don't think there will be any crash (spending) program," he said.

Bricker said he regrets that Charles P. Taft, brother of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, is opposing Gov. C. William O'Neill, in the Ohio top gubernatorial primary.

A reporter then reminded Bricker that Taft has called himself a "stand-by candidate", ready to run in the event O'Neill, who recently had a heart attack, can't.

"Well, he is on the ticket", Bricker responded.

Ohio law, he said, provides that if a candidate is unable to run, the state committee can select a substitute.

He said he believes O'Neill will be reelected.

Ex-Gangster To Get Parole

Touhy Once Serving 199-Year Sentence

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Roger Touhy, 60, Prohibition era Chicago gangster, was granted a parole Thursday under which he may be released from prison late next year.

The parole applied to a 99-year term for the 1933 kidnaping of John (Jake the Barber) Factor, which earlier had been reduced to 85 years by clemency action of Gov. William G. Stratton.

Touhy must still serve one-third of a three-year term for his part in a 1942 prison escape before consideration may be given to a parole which would set his freedom date.

The prison - break term, also commuted, was originally 199 years. The law prescribes that such a sentence must be served after expiration of the kidnaping term and six months' institutional parole.

Touhy and two others, Albert Kator and Gustav Schaefer, were sentenced to 99-year prison terms Feb. 23, 1934 after they were convicted of the 1933 kidnaping of Factor, a swindler who later went to prison for his part in a million-dollar fraud involving whisky warehouse receipts. Factor said he was held 11 days and that $70,000 ransom was paid for his release.

Kator and Schaefer are dead.

A sentence of 199 years, to begin after the 99-year term expired or he was paroled, was added to Touhy's penalty following his participation in a 1942 prison break.

The 199-year escape term was cut to three years by Gov. Stratton on July 31, 1957, and the kidnaping term to 85 years.

Methodist Men Eye Dishpan Hands after Ham Dinner

It seems that the Methodist Men's Club served its annual George Washington Birthday Ham Dinner to more than 500 persons—and had to turn away about 60 others.

J. Boyd Stout, president of the men's group, said that "we ran out of everything, except dirty dishes."

It was at that point that the women smiled hopefully; they long have hoped for an automatic dishwasher in the church dining rooms.

* * *

STOUT HINTED that the Methodist Men now probably are in a very receptive mood for such an expenditure.

The club chieftain, along with the Rev. Charles Reed, expressed regret that the traditional "right hand of fellowship" could not be extended to the 60 persons who had the misfortune of arriving after all the ham and cherry pie had departed. Both pledged that every effort would be made to avoid a duplication of the incident in 1959.

As to the automatic dishwasher, neither Stout nor Mr. Reed would make any promises. But neither expressed a liking for dishwater hand.

Dave Beck Denies His Guilt After Getting Prison Term

SEATTLE (AP)—"I am no more guilty than anyone in this court house," said Dave Beck after he was sentenced Thursday to up to 15 years in prison for stealing $1,900 from the Teamsters Union.

The recently deposed master of a labor empire with 1½ million members issued a formal statement indicating a long fight in the courts to escape prison.

"I am sure that in due time justice will prevail," he said.

Beck, 63, stood in shaken disbelief when King County Superior Judge George H. Revelle sentenced him for grand larceny for misappropriating funds from the sale of a union-owned car.

Beck's son, Dave Jr., 37, had been sentenced earlier in the day on two counts of grand larceny for misappropriating $4,650 from the sale of two union cars.

A twitching muscle was the only movement from the flush - faced elder Beck when Judge Revelle told him:

* * *

"THOUGH WE are dealing with a relatively small amount of money as measured against the good you have done, if I were in such a position of trust and had committed such a violation, I would expect to answer for it with the greatest consequences society permits."

Judge Revelle and Prosecutor Charles O. Carroll both said they would recommend to the State Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, which sets minimum sentences, that Beck serve at least three years, less time off for good behavior, which could trim his prison time to two years.

Attorneys for Beck Sr. said they would appeal the grand larceny conviction. Beck Sr. remained free on $3,000 bail.

Sentencing of young Beck was deferred for three years on condition that he (1) pay a $2,000 fine plus the costs of his trial, (2) repay the $4,650 to the Teamsters Union with his own funds and (3) sever all connections with organized labor either as an officer or employe.

Forty American students to the U.S.S.R. and 20 Soviet students will come to America for five to six weeks.

Lausche Loses Bid To Curb Air Subsidies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lausche (D-Ohio) has lost his first legislative fight of the year—to stop increased subsidies for some commercial airlines.

The Ohioan protested that the legislation "will make an outright gift of possibly 67 million dollars to air carriers on subsidy."

The bill, finally passed by voice vote in the Senate Thursday, would forbid the government to deduct from subsidies money the airlines want to invest in new airplanes and other equipment.

Before the final vote, Lausche tried to change the bill with an amendment that would let the Civil Aeronautics Board loan the airlines this money. But he lost on that, too, 70 to 14.

The original bill was passed by the House but was sent back for consideration of amendments.

What Lausche said he objected to was that airlines already are guaranteed an average of 8 per cent on profits. The new legislation, he said, would mean more "gifts" to allow the "already liberally subsidized" airlines to buy equipment.

Monroney said the measure is designed primarily to help the small "feeder" airlines finance new equipment. With more modern planes, Monroney argued, the small lines will be able to get off subsidies through increased business.

Athens Paper Named in Lawsuit

ATHENS (AP)—A $75,000 libel suit has been filed in Athens County common pleas court naming as defendants the Messenger Publishing Co. and James O'Brien, Pomeroy attorney who is Meigs County prosecuting attorney.

The action, seeking $50,000 for claimed damage to business reputation and $25,000 for punitive damages, was filed by counsel for the National Food Service, Marietta. The plaintiffs charged a newspaper article carried "false, malicious and defamatory statements" warning readers against dealing with the plaintiff and his agents by implying they were guilty of indictable offenses.

Little Rock Integration End Sought

A strongly worded petition requested U.S. District Court to stay an order which allowed nine Negro students to enter the previously all-white school last fall.

The petition virtually said that opposition to integration had made normal school conditions at Central High impossible. It said the school district, in its respect for the law of the land, was "left standing alone, the victim of extraodrinary opposition on the part of the state government and apathy on the part of the federal government."

Suspension of the board's integration plan, which was put into effect under the protection of federal troops last September, was asked until:

1. There is a clear definition of the concept "all deliberate speed" in the U.S. Supreme Court's 1954 ruling on school desegregation.
2. There are effective legal procedures by which the schools can be integrated without impairment of the quality of the educational program.

Minniejean, who plans to enter an interracial school in New York, is the only Negro either expelled or suspended over racial incidents. Several whites have been suspended.
